Just One More Time

As the students filed into the school on August 19, many ideas and suggestions were making headway to insure the 1992 school year would be one to remember. The new year was off to a good start and looked as if many improvements were being made to make the upcoming year a successful one. For some, it was time to set out to make their final year prosperous and a class that the school would never forget. To others, it was the beginning of what would be the last years of their Batesville High School education. To the freshmen, the new environment was different and it would take time to adjust, but they would overcome the new setting to enjoy their final years.

The school was filled with turmoil for the new teams which were already underway. Athletes worked as ambitious groups and organizations had previously finished their planning, with an outlook on what accomplishments their clubs would make by working together looking into the future, not dwelling on the past.

New ambitions by all were beginning to take form and trying to be attained by the student body who set them. For most, it was time to again hit the books and strive for the best education possible, an education which would help to gain all achievement of making them the best people that they could be.

We the 1991-1992 student body, worked together in all we strived for, and this made us one above the rest. It shows how 515 students and 49 faculty and staff members can work as one in all they do. The memories made by this group are numerous and can be looked over and over again as we continue to attain goals that are one above the rest.

-Kim Linkel

An American Dream

The cold weather doesn't bother Amy Linkel or Jeremy Luers as both appear happy, while representing their freshman class.

"I hope the weather is nice and it doesn't rain like years past," replied Jenna Meyer, 1991 Junior Representative. This was the thought of many candidates as they looked forward to October 11, 1991. It started out as a dreary, cloudy, cold October day. Fortunately, the sun was able to shine and the evening went as planned. The mood was set as the B.H.S. Marching Band played "One Moment in Time." The princess candidates were announced first, starting with Amy Linkel, escorted by Jeremy Luers, who was followed by Katie Amos, escorted by Josh Pohlman. Jill Cochran and her escort, Jeff Wanstrath, finished up the freshman representatives and the court continued with sophomore representatives.

"I'm looking forward to it and hope it's a fun experience," commented Angie Menser. She was escorted by Ben Dickey, and her classmate Beth Hunter was accompanied by Nathan Walsman. The junior representatives included Jenna Meyer, escorted by Jason Kuisel, and Sandy Shook, who chose Eric Starost as her escort.

Finally, King and Queen candidates were announced with King candidate Ken Maple and his escort Wendi Schutte leading the procession. Next in line were King/Queen candidate couples of Adam Westerfeld and Brenda Fitch, followed by David Bedel and Meg Ekins. Queen candidate Carmen Prickel, accompanied by Ted Tekulve, ended the introductions of the Homecoming Court. Now, the evening reached its climax and the candidates, as well as the crowd, awaited the announcement of the Homecoming Royalty. Angie Menser was voted Homecoming princess and Ken Maple was crowned king. Meg Ekins was chosen as queen. In all, the evening turned out in royal fashion and for a few, Homecoming was a real "American Dream."

-Brenda Fitch

Carmen Prickel sits helplessly while wondering if Liz Schantz will ever find the right "cruising" music to last throughout the parade.

For Senior candidates Brenda Fitch and Adam Westerfeld, the night was ideal for riding atop this sleek red vet.

People Helping Others

People are always helping others. This is very apparent throughout all of BHS: teachers helping students, students helping students and much, much more.

An outstanding example of this is the BHS Key Club. What does the Key Club do, one may ask? The Key Club is an organization that makes money to give to worthy groups in the city of Batesville. According to David Fischmer, the secretary of the group, "The year's biggest project so far has been our canned food drive. We collected a pickup truck load of food for the area's needy." The club is now at the impressive enrollment of thirty-one.

Another group within BHS is SADD. Members of SADD work toward the public knowledge of the hazards of drinking and driving. The faculty sponsor of the club, Mrs. Voegele, was asked to comment about how she felt BHS has responded to SADD. She said, "I really feel BHS has a poor attitude toward SADD. It is not considered as one of the "in" clubs. Those members who do support are excellent and do their job well, but we need more. The students who need the help and support are not joining. Students against Driving Drunk should be the number one concern of every student at BHS."

As for the future of SADD they hope to have increased membership and to make the community more aware of what the group was created for. An example of the heightened awareness is the candlelight walk that SADD sponsers to commemorate all who have died in drinking and driving deaths.

This year there is a new concept of learning at BHS, is called cooperative learning. This is where the students get together to learn in small groups. Some students feel this is beneficial; other do not. When asked about it, freshman Andrea Flory said, "I like cooperative learning because if you don't understand what the teacher is saying, you may be able to understand it better by having a classmate explain it to you."

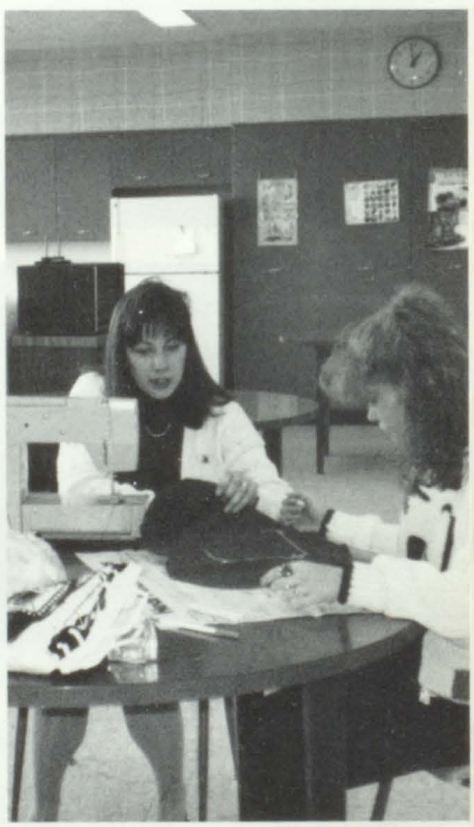

Members of VICA gave fruit baskets this year to people of the Batesville community. The VICA members earned the money to accomplish this by recycling aluminum cans and various other moneymakers.

No one can forget all who sat in the hall and in the Media Center to help their peers. To everyone who gets help or gives it, this is for them, the silent people who help others get through life.

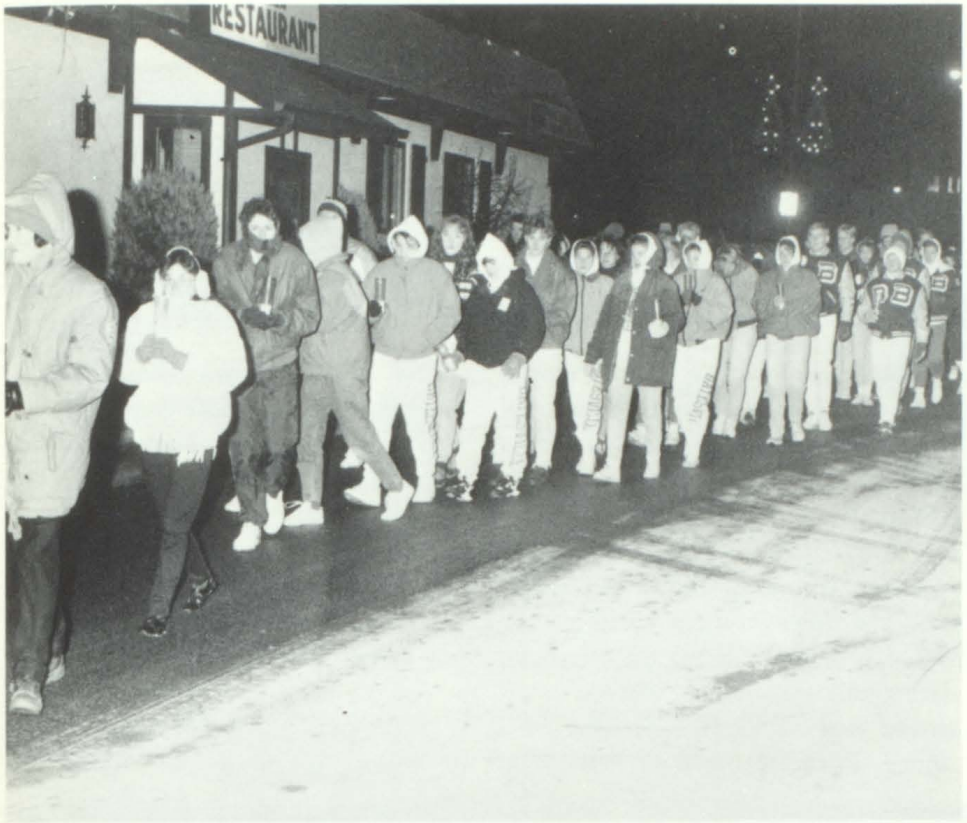

-Tammy Britch

Jeff Bedel utilizes his office assistant ablities by helping Mrs. Meer in the guidance office.

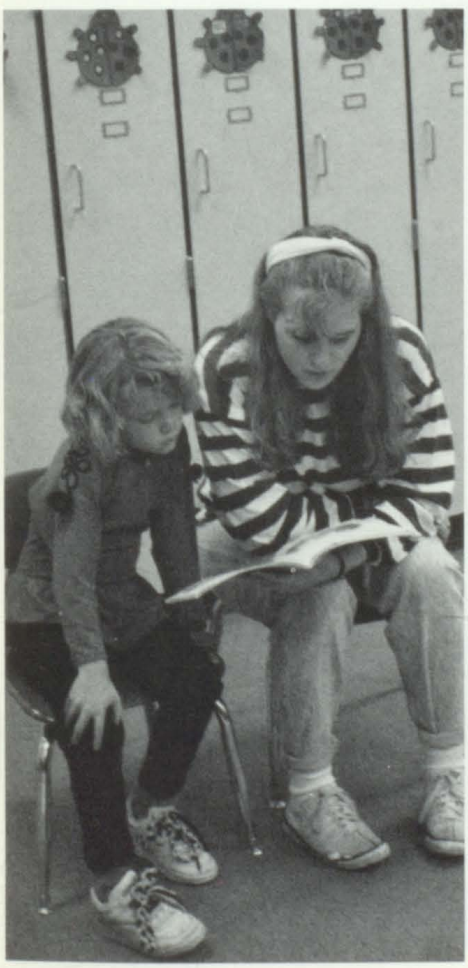

Mrs. Thornton helps junior Char Goins complete a sewing project.

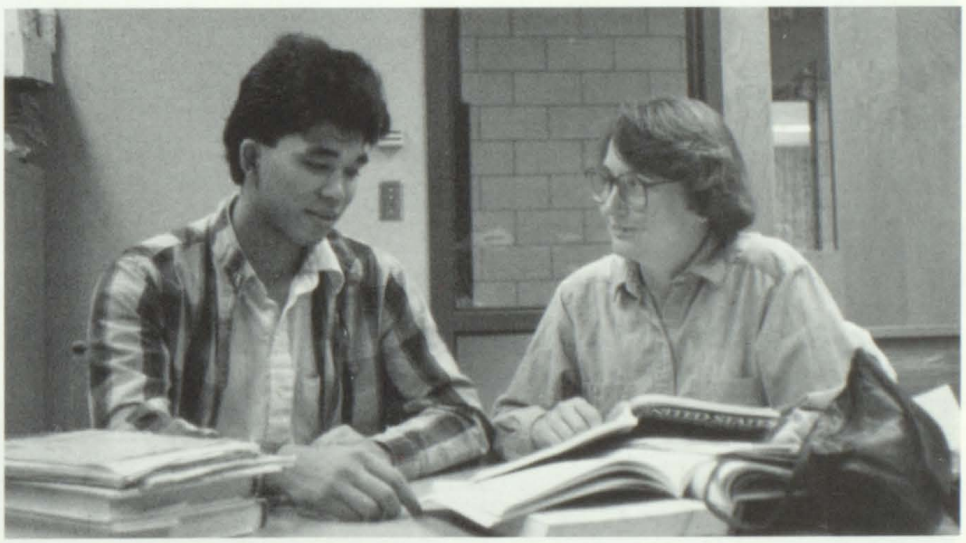

Batesville students participate in a candlelight walk remembering drunk driving victims and protesting drinking and driving.

Seniors Bill Hahn and Dave Wahman take a moment to share their incredible enthusiasm, as they teach primary students about proper nutrition.

Senior Lori Sarringhaus, working as an exploratory teacher, helps the BPS students with reading.

Mrs. Stephens helps Ngoc Van Nguyen with his schoolwork.

Seniors David Fischmer and Dave Bedel display food items collected for the needy families of the area.

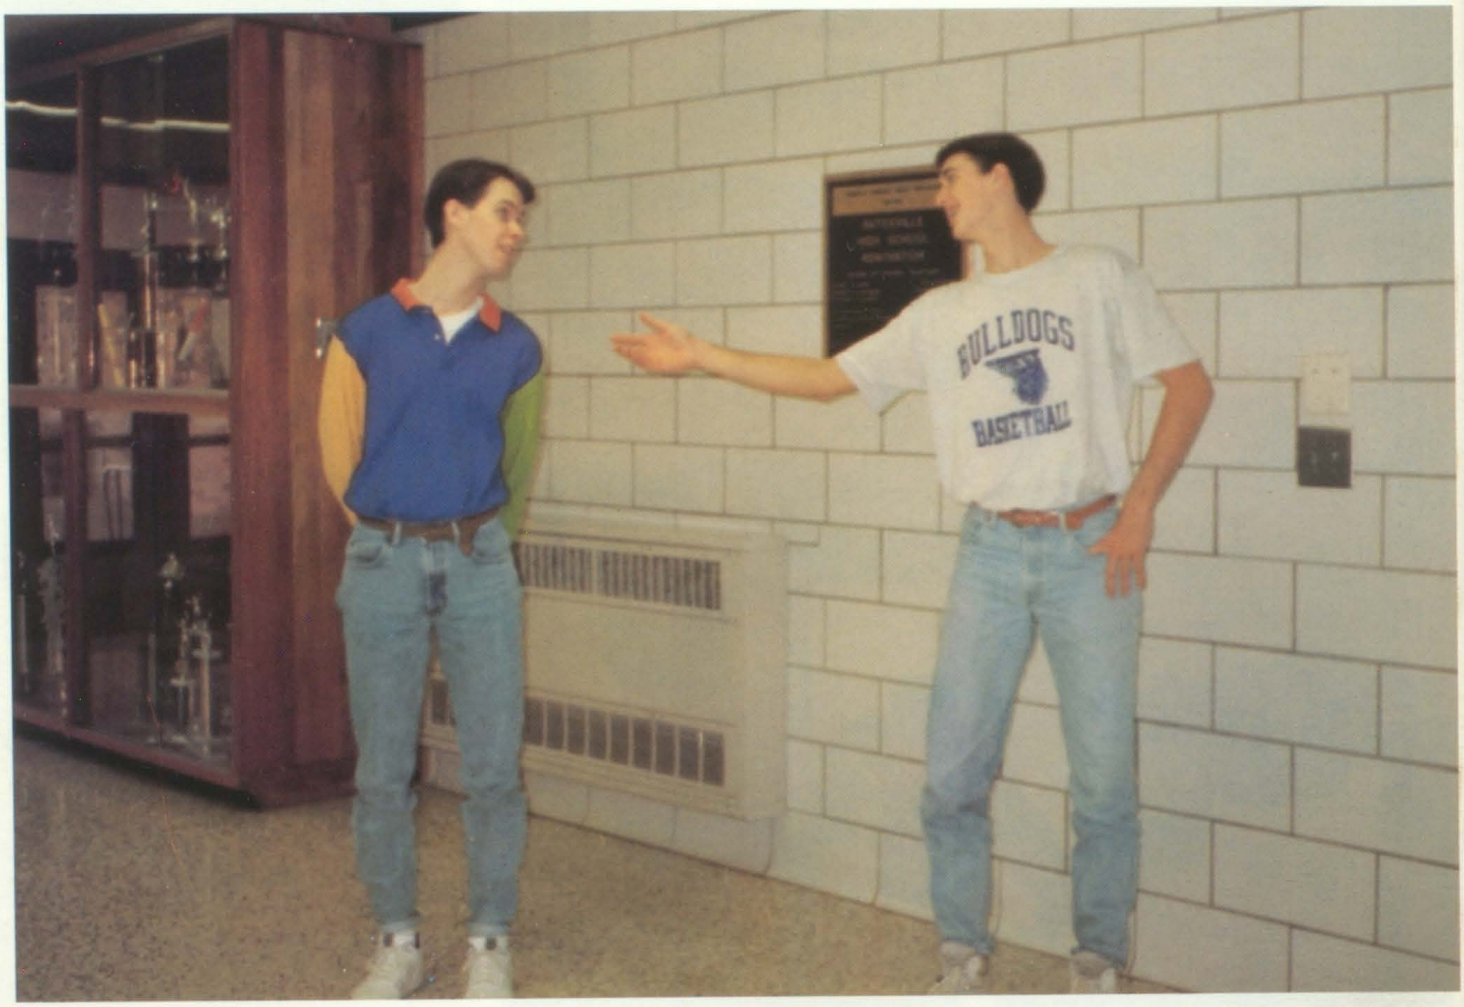

Recognizing Family Ties

Even though the students of Batesville High School may only seem to be in their own social circles, many of them may be closer than one thinks, turning out of be more than just friends. When students are asked who plays an important part in their lives, most replied friends and family. More often than not, students here at B.H.S. can find not only their friends, but also their families, too.

It is shown that approximately 500 students attend B.H.S. and, of those, 30% are twins or siblings. Even though there were only four sets of twins, many of them were known as having a mirror image of themselves roaming about the school. The 1.2% of these people who fit into this category are Greg and Brian Moeller, Suzi and Jolene Schumacker, Brad and Brian Brougher, and Don and Doug Borgman. A survey was conducted during this past school year and many replied that having the presence of a sibling did not affect their relations at school. Usually it was more of an advantage having an older or younger sibling there. However, Tony Stein disagreed by stating that it affected him because his sister seems to tell on everything one does.

In closing, it is right in saying that, "A model family makes a model home out of any house" (Herbert V. Prochnow).

-S. Flodder, C. Prickel

When Matt Doll was asked how he felt about spending time at school with his brother, Josh, he replied, "There is nothing better than sharing a moment with each other throughout the day."

BHS Twins: Front row: B. Brougher, D. Borgman, B. Moeller, J. Schumacker Back row: B. Brougher, D. Borgman, G. Moeller, S. Schumacker

Suzi and Jolene Schumacker show that their twin likenesses are nothing more than mirror images.

While Becky and Brenda Fitch pull one warm smile from the other, these two demonstrate that siblings can really get along.

Jill Pulskamp, sophomore, takes control of her big brother Jeff, a junior, proving that she means business and shows just who's boss.

Staring in sheer bewilderment, Ben Niehoff wonders if Ted Tekulve is as confused as he is in Mr. Stanbrough's class.

David Fischmer's one great highlight was buying this bug, which proves that highlights come in all shapes and sizes.

Soaring and Diving

The high school years are supposed to be the most memorable years of a teenager's life. Through these years, a student will experience highlights, good and bad. These highlights are what many will remember and reflect upon in years to come. So, we decided to share with you some of the most memorable highlights, good and bad, of BHS.

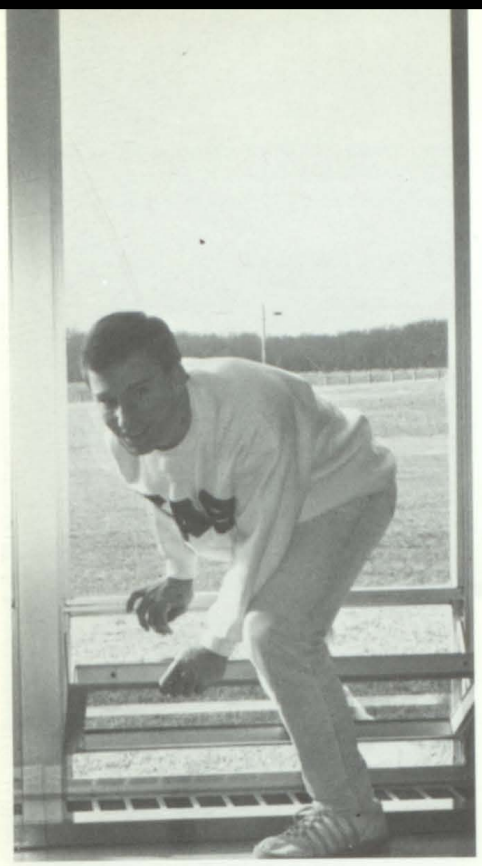

A survey was distributed throughout the school and the response was phenomenal. The variety of answers received ranged from spectacular highs to depressing lows that no one can forget. For many seniors, when asked one highlight of their four years here at BHS, many will respond with "Charlemagne". On the other hand, a not-so-wonderful highlight for many of them will be leaving their friends all the memories they have of BHS. And, who could forget the time Matt Saner got the up-close view of the inside of a trash can?

The 1991-1992 school year is over and many students have highlights to reflect upon. For those who haven't experienced highlights that have made an impact on them, keep hoping! Because as long as students continue to pass through the halls of BHS, highlights will come and go with each new year.

-B. Fitch & C. McPherson

One of Deann Salatin's worst highlights of being a freshman was learning that some doors don't always open.

"The Great Tekulve" (Ted) re-enacts his daring escape through the gaping jaws of Mrs. Barnett's window.

Mrs. Seright, known to many of her students as "Senora," explains to second year Spanish student "Simon," Scott Linkel, the secrets of perfecting this primitive hispanic art of ceramics (vases).

Being a Halloween highlight himself, Buddy Baker poses for a moment in which his devilish qualities surface.

Best

"When Matt Saner was face-down in the trash can."

-Josh Doll

"Being on the girls basketball team when we went to Regional."

-Meg Ekins

"Advancing to the National Landjudging and being elected FFA District XII President."

-Dave Gehring

Worst

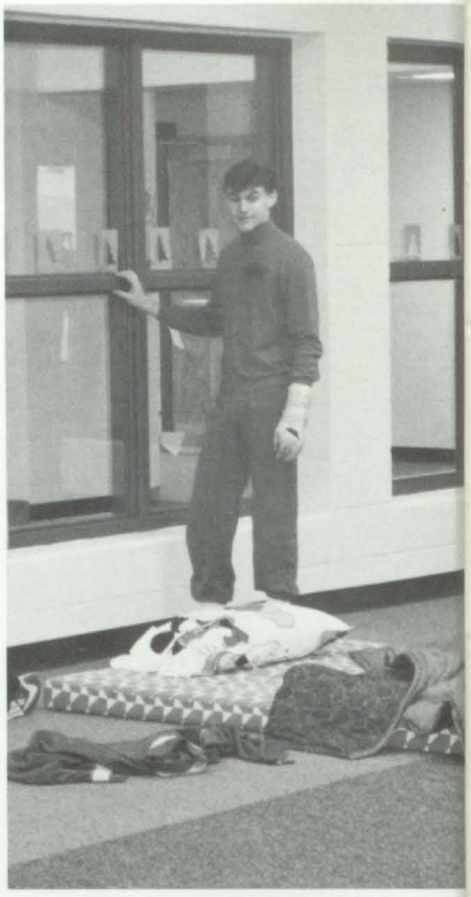

"When I almost shot at the wrong goal in the Milan basketball game my junior year."

-Tony Gutzwiller

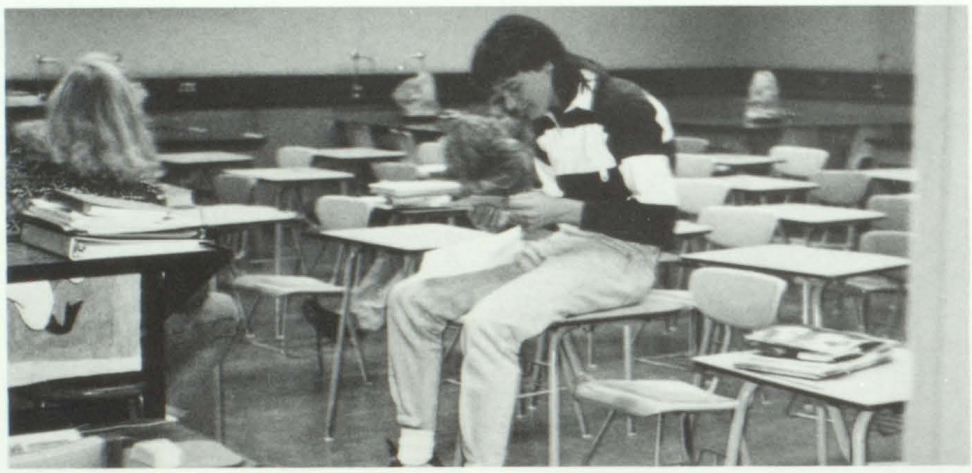

"It takes five minutes for the whole school to know something."

-David Wahman

Ben Niehoff actively portrays a young boy in a play performed by the A.P. English class for the third grade at the Batesville Primary School.

Derek Kiser, senior class president, looks over the agenda for an upcoming class meeting.

The ONE & only

Today in the world we live in there are many unique things. Snowflakes, for example, have different designs on each of them. Fingerprints are something else that are unique, since no two people have the same print.

The relationship between the students or even the camaraderie between the faculty and students make our school unique. The teachers and the students have special bonds that have carried the school throughout the years. This makes our school ONE ABOVE THE REST.

In our school one will find much diversity. The way people dress or even the way they act varies from person to person. Mr. Zimmerman stated, "A variety of interesting personalities and attitudes makes the senior class stand out." Each person has his or her own hobbies and interests. People have different abilities in sports, academics, and mechanics. Interests in music are another diversity in our school that can prove that each person is his or her own individual. Remember, there is only one you!

-B. Coffin, K. Linkel

Senior Jake Amberger cautiously studies a newly released edition of the BULLDOG BARK.

Batesville High School students were among the fortunate few who were enabled to watch 'Flight One' in action.

The Last and Final Draw

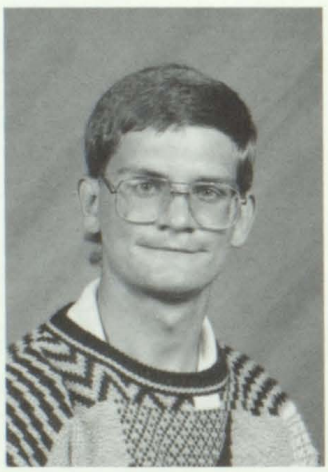

It was finally time, time for Seniors to move on and explore what was to lie ahead of them. It was not long until everyone realized that as the years passed by, the days would move on faster and faster. Not only have the days and times changed, but also the class as individuals have changed. It is these changes that have brought us to have different morals and values along with new attitudes toward life.

Traveling back to our freshman year, things that may have seemed so crucial, now as Seniors, appear to be rather trivial. Worries such as looking one's best everyday, facing fears of fitting in, and joining new clubs are now nothing but mere thoughts that escape our minds. As Sophomores, we accomplished goals such as getting our license, and passing those challenging gym classes. The Junior year finally arrived and we were gaining the title of "upperclassmen". More responsibility was being forced upon us. For instance, the planning of prom was one of the first of our experiences to organize a night that would be all our own.

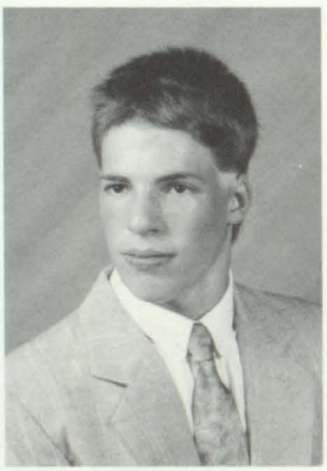

Last, but not least, our Senior year had arrived. It was time when people were heading in their own directions, whether it be job offers, college, the military, or those who chose just to "hang out". The true fear that each and every one of us faced was if we would make it or break it in the real world. We could no longer push our own responsibilities on others; it was time for us to face any obstacle that came our way on our own.

Just One More Year

This year with the weight of organizing prom on their shoulders, picking colleges, SAT's, keeping up with who's dating who, who's having what party, and what's in and what's not, juniors had little time to stop and smell the school lunch. With only one more year, they seldom realize just how soon their high school years will become memories. Several juniors were asked to comment on their fondest memories of their high school career so far. Greg Strobel remembered, "When Dale Meyer, Dave Stock, and Jason Weisenbach won the Sectional mile relay last year." Marty Schebler fondly remembers, "Conversing with my best friend Angel Goins and meeting Rodney." Jeff Pulskamp looked back on "last year's semi and someone I danced with four times." Finally, Shelley Goins remembered when "the table in Mrs. Thornton's room broke and Sherry and I went tumbling to the floor." There are plenty of fond memories for the class of 1993 and there's only more to come.

Mr. Ferguson, who has faithfully sponsored the class since the very beginning, had this to say, "It's just a shame we don't have more active students in the class. We have some, but not enough. They have great ideas, but it takes more than one person to carry those ideas out." When asked to comment on his fondest memory of teaching the class as freshmen and sophomores, he replied, "Probably the inter-relationship, the two way communication, I thought, was able to take place." So all in all, one could say that the junior class isn't so bad; they're just too busy to be active!

Class politics took on a new lead for juniors also. The four representatives of the class turned out to be all boys. Eric Starost took on the role of president; Matt Doll as vice-president; John Strange as Secretary; and last but not least, Jeff Schwegman as Treasurer. These guys really did a great job organizing prom, trying to raise enough money for colored pictures in the yearbook their senior year, and selling concessions at basketball games. It's hard to believe they only have one more year to go.

Sophomores Get Involved

The sophomore class is traditionally looked upon as the least active class at Batesville High School. This year, however, the sophomores were probably the most dominant in school spirit as well as athletic ability. The secretary of the class, Jennifer Westerfeld, said, "I'm proud of my class." As an example of the sophomore class being dominant, the class took second place in the float competition during Homecoming. Mr. Lemen, the class sponsor, commented, "There are a lot of good kids. Of course, there are exceptions."

To help the sophomores out next year for their prom, they held a couple of fund-raisers during the course of the school year. During the fall, they had a silver and crystal jewelry sale, which was very profitable. Around Christmas time, they raffled off a refrigerator, which also helped the class out financially.

What A Change to Make

Coming into the first of four final years of school, freshmen can be faced with some trying times. Most students try to have a good outlook on high school, but that is sometimes easier said than done. Upperclassmen may not realize what a change it is for an incoming freshman.

Have you ever stopped to think about all the changes you experience from middle school to high school? Once one reaches high school, he/she has a larger variety of electives; all grades participate in most classes, and one has five minutes between classes instead of three! Face it, freshmen have to deal with some major changes.

Starting the year with no money for their class tends to be a bit discouraging, but the freshmen rapidly began filling their bank! With the help of their class sponsor, Miss Meyer, the ninth graders soon had quite a sum of money. To begin the fundraising process the freshmen sold candy.

In order to assist the freshmen in their first few weeks of school, the Spirit Committee organized the Buddy System. The Buddy System matched up a senior student with a freshman student. The "Buddy" helped the freshman with directions to class, answered any questions, and tried to be of assistance in any way he/she possibly could.

Freshmen take part in most, if not all, activities here at BHS. They play an active role in sports as well as Student Council. Class officers included Katie Amos-President, Jill Cochran-Vice President, Amy Linkel-Secretary, and Amy Vonderheide-Treasurer.

Freshmen struggle through the first year of high school, but once it is over they feel they have reached a major goal. Each year they complete brings them that much closer to their senior year, and that is worth the struggle.

New Faces in Old Places

Members of the BHS faculty and staff came into this school year with a great outlook. Everyone was hoping to boost school spirit and did everything possible to help with the problem. This year there were four vibrant faces on the BHS staff. They were Mr. Robert Nobbe, Miss Beth Meyer, Miss Lisa Walsh and Mrs. Amy Siefert.

Mr. Robert Nobbe took the job of government teacher and with his degree in world geography started a new class. Mr. Nobbe was an assistant coach for the BHS football team, a coach for the newly founded spirit squad and reserve basketball coach.

Miss Beth Meyer, who replaced Mr. Rick Whitmore, became P.V.E. (Pre-Vocational Educational) instructor. Miss Meyer thinks, "BHS students and staff have been very helpful during my first year."

Miss Lisa Walsh is the new face in the science department. She taught earth science and physical science. She took the place of Mr. Yarber. This is what Miss Walsh had to say about her first year, "BHS is a great school. I have been given a lot of support from all of the teachers and have met many friendly students."

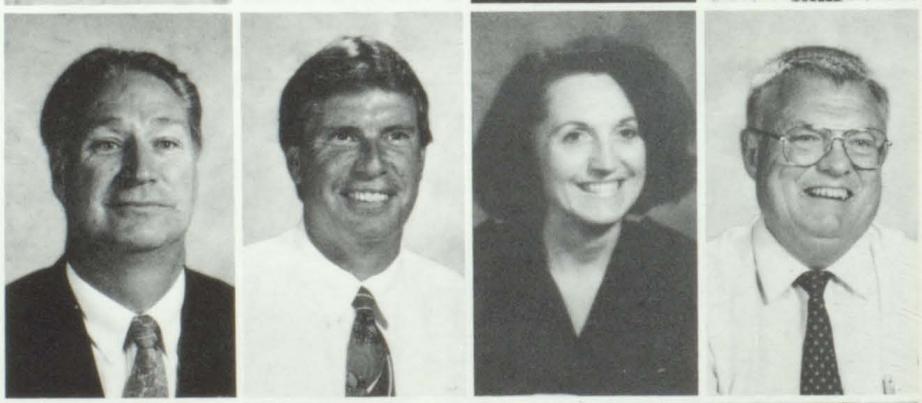

The faculty and staff of BHS can't be beaten with their enthusiasm and spirit for the year, which is shown in everything they do. Last but not least Mrs. Amy Siefert came to BHS so additional computer classes were formed because of the great interest in the course. Mrs. Siefert has been in the Batesville School Corporation for three years. She started her career at Oldenburg Academy and then taught at BHS and at Batesville Middle School.

We would like to say good-by to Mr. Lemen. It has been a great pleasure and honor to have known him. Good luck with everything, Mr. Lemen.

ONE step at a time

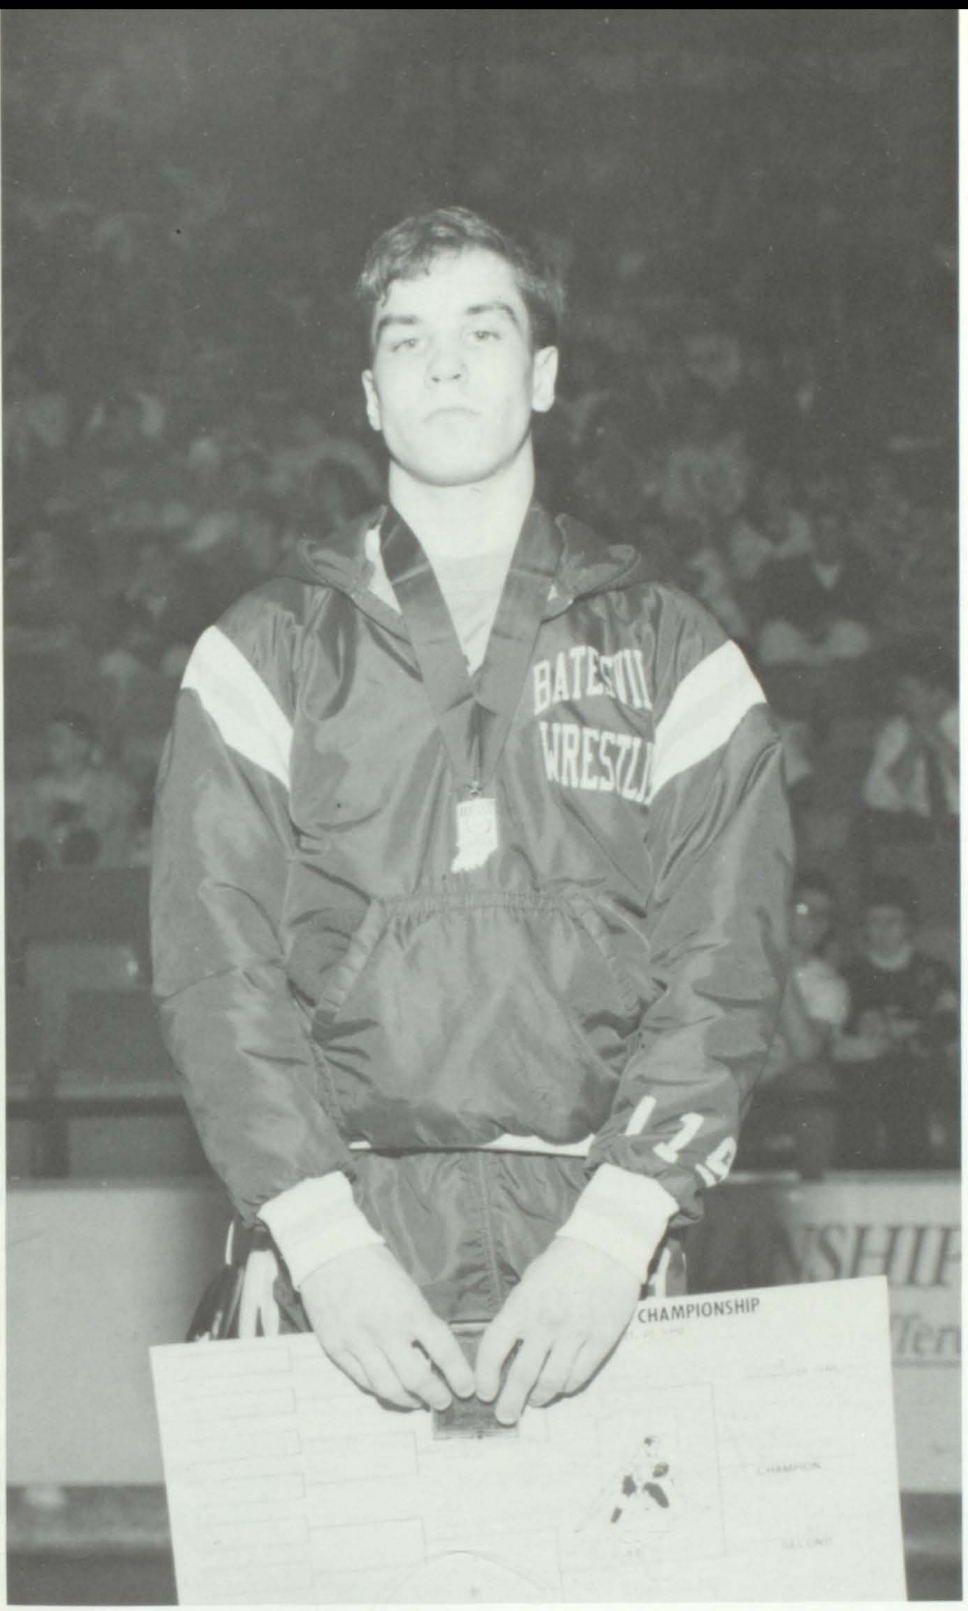

Practice makes perfect. Some of the Batesville High School coaches were asked on what they base a team's success. Veteran wrestling coach Mark Ferguson replied, "I base success on hard work and attitude. Those who rise above and push themselves beyond expectation, knowing in your heart that you gave your best effort is success."

This year was Mrs. Hoeing's first year as head coach. When she was asked what she thought a team's success was based on, she commented, "Attaining the goals which you set out to do, seeing improvement, having fun, and each individual feeling a sense of self-worth and confidence are vital components to a team's success."

Coach Records has been Batesville High School's football coach for two years now. On the whole, he thought a team's success is based on improvement. This improvement is at two levels, improvement from the start of the season to the end of the season, and from week-to-week during the season.

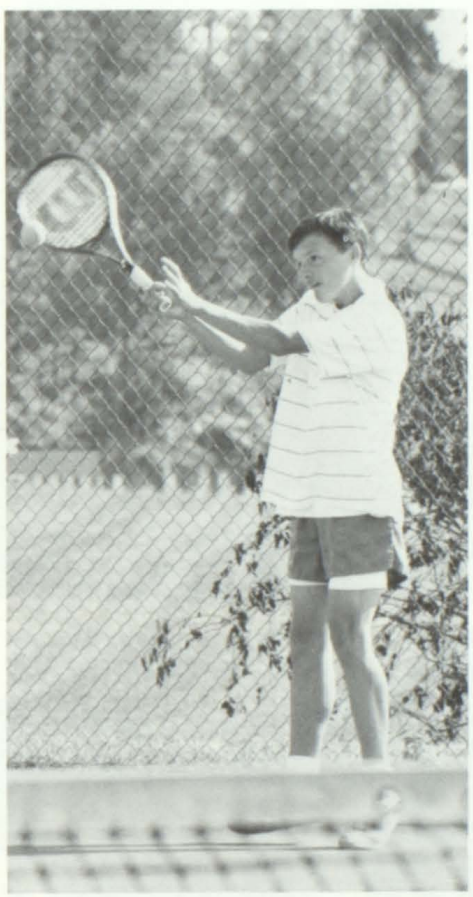

A team's success is different in many coaches' eyes. All coaches would agree that it takes hard work and perseverance to make a team's success.

Running for Success

Coach Raver led the cross country team through another good season, finishing 47-30 overall.

The team was headed by two seniors, Sarah Flodder, the number two runner, and Meg Ekins, who was number seven. Gina Raver, junior, placed eleventh in the E.I.A.C. that was held at Greensburg. Gina Montgomery, a sophomore, placed thirteenth in the conference. Angie Menser, sophomore, placed first in the conference. She also followed her season out by going to semi-state and placing twelfth out of 122 people. Menser missed qualifying for state by only four seconds. Jill Cochran, who placed ninth, and Gina Salatin, freshmen, were also valuable members of the team.

The cross country team placed second in the conference and the county. The team missed qualifying for the regional by a mere eight points.

The team is looking forward to picking up three middle school runners to fill the squad, and their goal is to qualify for the semi-state.

Award winners were Angie Menser, who was the team's MVP. Gina Raver was selected as the Bulldog Award recipient.

Striding to the Top

The 91-92 boys cross country team had a very outstanding season. The team finished with a great 66-23 overall record. They faired well during their tournaments finishing second in the conference to Greensburg, second in the county to South Ripley, third in the Sectional, and fifth in the Regional. Despite the team's not advancing past the regional, Troy Riehle qualified for the Semi-State placing 49 out of 123 runners. Two more outstanding runners were Andy Scheele and Ben Dickey, who placed 13th and 18th at the Regional.

Despite the team's lack of experience, they performed well overall and are expected to improve greatly by next year. Coach Ron Raver exclaims, "They are very young but they have the most potential of any BHS boys team." The team looked rather strong early this season and anticipated great things. The team worked well together and proved it through their outstanding season.

Awards were presented at the Fall Awards Program. Troy Riehle was given the MVP for his hard work and great accomplishments. Andy Scheele received the Varsity Bulldog Award, while Chuck Brinkman received the Reserve Bulldog Award.

Coach Brebberman's Lady Golfers were in swing this year with 24 wins and 13 losses. The girls golf team placed second in Conference, losing to Greensburg. Greensburg has been their biggest competitor for many years. The Bulldogs also placed fourth in Sectional. Senior Meg Ekins, who was medalist every dual meet except one, stated, "We should have gone on." Number two golfer, junior Angie Hisrich said, "Although we didn't go on in Sectional, we had a lot of fun."

The girls practiced hard and put in a lot of effort this year. Megan Ziegler and Amy Green were the two girls that improved the most. Coach Brebberman commented, "Both girls enjoyed playing." As a whole, he thought the team did very well for their experience. Award winners for the team were Meg Ekins, who was selected Most Valuable Player and Megan Ziegler, who received the Bulldog Award.

A Touch Away

Each year Bulldog football players take time out of their summer vacations to get prepared for their upcoming season. Each player puts in hours of hard work, striving for his goals made by both his coaches and himself.

The Freshman football team had a lot of potential, along with many strong upcoming players, Coach Ferguson feels that these players will be very tough once they reach the varsity level. At the Reserve level, Coach Seright felt they had a very successful season. They finished with five wins and two losses. Big wins were those over South Dearborn and the final season game against East Central, as it wrapped up a share of the conference championship.

The Varsity, coached by Mr. Randy Records, progressed throughout the season. Coach Records commented, "The intensity stayed high and we peaked at sectional time." The force behind this intensity was players who were able to make the "Big Stick," a goal sought by the players and organized by the coaches. Hard-earned wins were those over Greensburg both during regular season and Round I of Sectional play. Coach Records said, "The two wins over Greensburg were great!"

The awards banquet was held on November 14. For the freshmen, three young men earned awards: Brent Gutzwiller, best offensive player; Matt Weberding, best defensive player; and the Bulldog Award, Andy Saner. Reserve Bulldog Award went to Dan Kinker. Varsity awards were given to many outstanding individuals. David Bedel earned the Tackling and Gardner Awards. Pete Meyer received the Raver Award. Eric SteinKamp was chosen as Most Valuable Player. Brad Walker received the Bulldog Award, and Ted Tekulve earned the "Big Stick" Award.

One Good Set Up

As the start of each season approaches a team must overcome all obstacles and adapt to different changes in order to become a success. The first overwhelming change for the volleyball teams this season was adjusting to new coaches. Having to learn new coaching methods and new forms of playing was difficult. Shelley Dreyer became the volleyball coach for varsity, and Lori Meyer began coaching the reserve team.

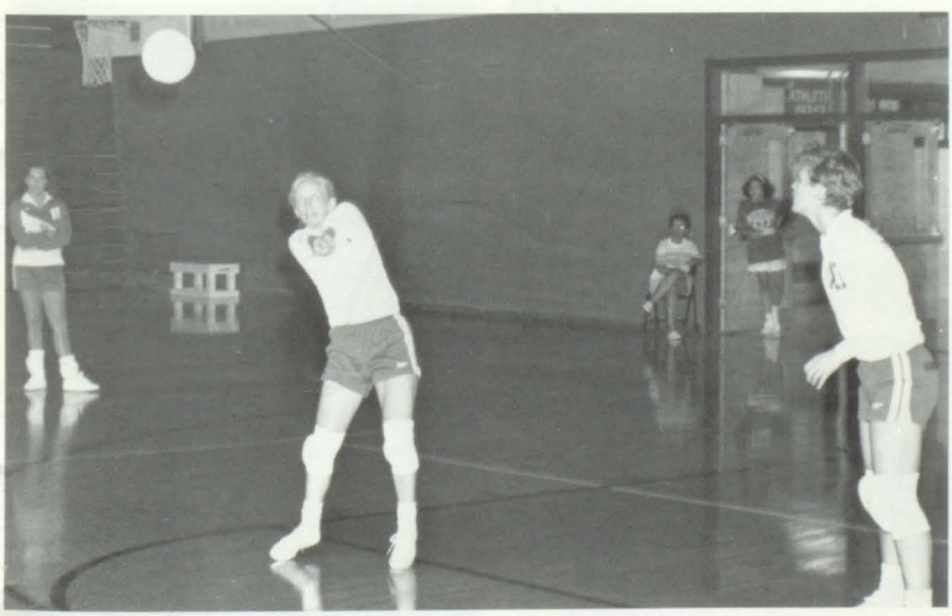

Performance was affected because of the loss of last year's seniors, as well as several injuries throughout this season. With a new atmosphere in coaching, new players, and different attitudes, it was hard to keep a bright perspective on things. Senior Brenda Fitch had an encouraging comment, "Everyone needs to realize it's a different coach, not a different game."

Varsity ended the season with a record of 6-15. Their greatest victory was against South Decatur, who had an outstanding record for the season. Reserve played well throughout the season with a final record of 6-12. Although the team was young and somewhat inexperienced, Coach Meyer said, "The team seemed to get along very well together, and I really enjoyed coaching them this year."

Members of the teams agreed that everyone contributed to each game. Jill Pulskamp, a sophomore player said, "Everyone definitely contributes their own thing to the team." Each player, along with the new coaches, came out of the season feeling more confident.

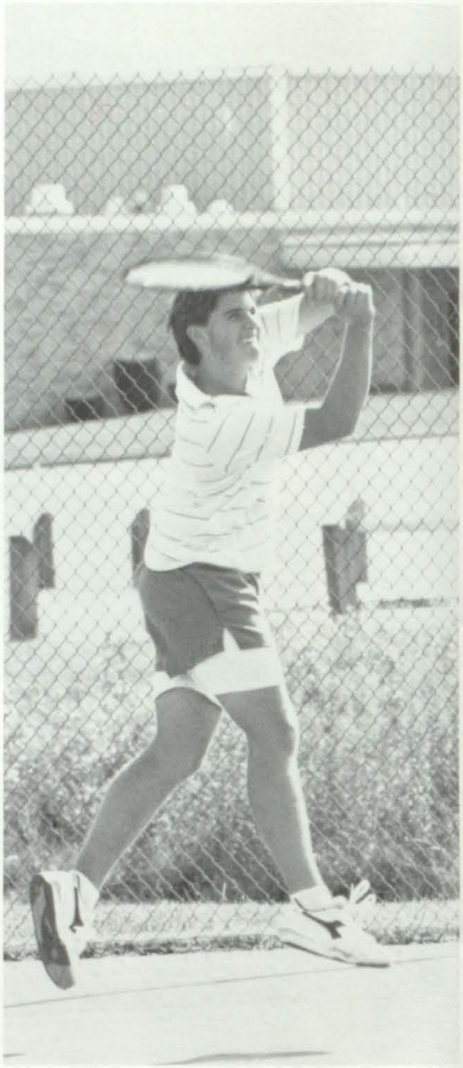

Every year the most deserving players receive the volleyball awards. The M.V.P. Award went to Jill Pulskamp. The Bulldog Awards were given to Brandy Lacey and Pegeen Gordon. The varsity Serving Award was earned by Brandy Lacey.

Making Some Racquet

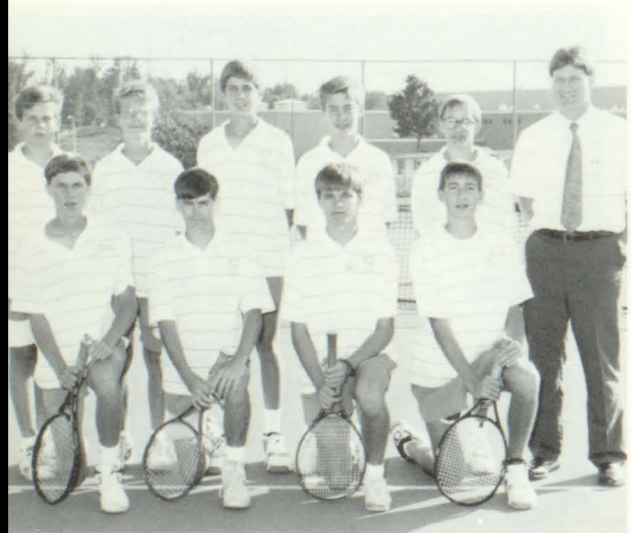

Boys tennis at BHS had its first winning season in four years. The lineup had Brad Coffin playing the number one position, with Jason Kuisel playing number two and Hans Ritter rounding out the singles lineup. At doubles, the tandem of senior David Fischmer and sophomore Nathan Walsman played well at number one with sophomores Jeff Dobson and Ryan Rahe rounding out the lineup.

The team started off hot by winning its first two matches but was brought back to reality by losing the next three. "For a young team, we faired well during the season," commented Coach Schuck.

Several individuals shined during the season. The number two doubles team placed runner-up in conference to a tenacious Lawrenceburg team. Brad Coffin was named the EIAC MVP by going undefeated in conference play and winning the conference tournament. He advanced in the state competition by winning sectional and eventually losing in the regional finals to a tough player who finished third in the state last year and this year.

Patrick Westerfeld was the recipient of the reserve Bulldog Award.

Being led by four dedicated and hard-working seniors, the 1991-92 Batesville Boys Basketball team was sure to have a successful season. Although some people may not be able to see this simply by looking at their record of 11-10, the team worked hard and accomplished a lot in this season of ups and downs.

Not only did the Batesville Bulldogs add a loss to both Lawrenceburg's and Greensburg's records, but they also set some records of their own. They topped the 91-92 season sinking a record 168 3-pt. shots, including the fifteen made against Milan. This essential part of the Bulldog's offense is best summarized by assistant coach Zimmerman, "We lived and died by the '3.'"

Batesville was also well-represented in the conference as two players, Adam Westerfeld and Brian Stirn, achieved All-Conference recognition. As a whole, the team placed third with a 6-4 record. Coach Cochran felt the season was highly emotional and was very pleased with senior leadership. Because of their consistent hard work, each senior athlete was presented with an award at the Winter Sports Award Program held March 31. Academic All-State Awards, given for their ability on the court as well as in the classroom, went to Dave Wahman and David Bedel. Shooting a fine 76%, Brian Stirn received the free throw award. For his exemplary sportsmanship, David Wahman accepted the Bulldog Award. Finally, the coveted Most Valuable Player Award was given to Adam Westerfeld for his all-around basketball abilities.

Finishing with an overall record of 18-2, the Reserve Bulldogs had an outstanding season. As well as avenging an earlier loss to Franklin County, the Dogs clenched the Reserve Tourney victory for the second consecutive year. Coach Nobbe had nothing but praise for the team. "They were aggressive, hard-working, and fun to coach." Troy Riehle was awarded the Bulldog Award for his attitude and performance throughout the season. High expectations are set for the team's future.

Batesville's freshman team finished their season with a 5-12 record. Awarding Brent Gutzwiller the Bulldog Award, Coach Siefert felt the whole team showed great improvements.

-Brenda Fitch

Relying on Pete Bohman's sure-handedness, Dave Bedel, John Lee, and Brian Stirn anxiously await his next move.

A leading scorer in the area and team M.V.P., senior Adam Westerfeld emerges from the Spirit Squad tunnel to begin his third year as a varsity player.

While Brian Stirn slows down the offender, Matt Doll and Ken Bedel quickly align the shot to see if a rebound will be needed.

Turning Heads

Heads were turning as the Batesville Lady Bulldogs racked up victory after victory in the '92 season. The strong team consisted of two seniors, two juniors, one sophomore, and three freshmen. With such a young team, the Lady Bulldogs were given great recognition for their performance.

The Lady Bulldogs had an excellent season with a final record of 11-11. It was a long road to achieve those scores. Beginning in November and running into February, the girls fought hard and played well. The team advanced to the first game of the Regional.

First year varsity coach Donna Hoeing, with the help of reserve coach, Jeff Evans, made coaching seem easy as they led the Batesville team to a sectional victory. Both coaches were well-satisfied with the team's performance and enjoyed coaching the girls. Coach Hoeing commented about her first varsity season, "My first season went very smoothly due to a great group of girls to work with.

Meg Ekins received both the M.V.P. Award and the varsity Bulldog Award. Brenda Fitch was recognized with the Free Throw Award for her outstanding shooting skill. Brandy Lacey was awarded the reserve Bulldog Award.

The future of Lady Bulldog basketball has a bright glow, although two seniors will be leaving. With the loss of Brenda Fitch and Meg Ekins, the strong underclass players should gain incentive to play harder. Although it is difficult to let go of team members, it has to be "out with the old and in with the new" in order to maintain the pride and prestige the Lady Bulldogs have worked so hard to attain.

A Look of Champions

This year the Batesville High School wrestling coach, Mr. Ferguson, had his dream come true. Although the wrestling season record could have been better, an outstanding wrestler overcame the odds and brought the state championship home! It was the first ever in Batesville Bulldog history. "It is a dream of every wrestler and coach," says Coach Ferguson. "Mike Daily is the epitome of what determination and heart can do. He wrestled magnificently!"

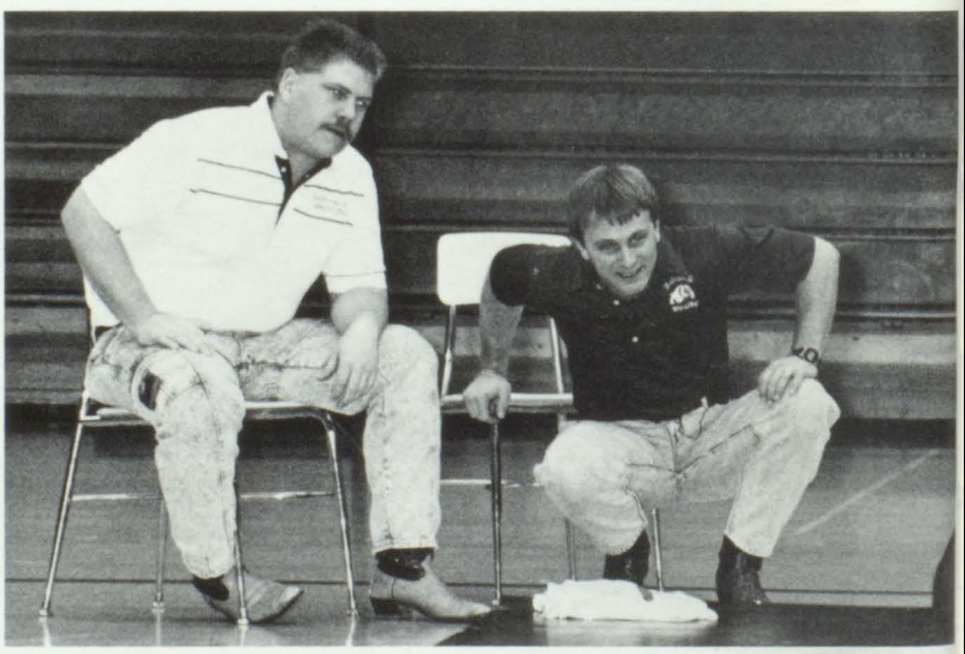

Some other outstanding wrestlers this season were Brian Enneking, senior, Chris Nobbe, junior, and Jason Koch and Aaron Lewis, sophomores. Freshman David Shane also had a successful season.

Coach Ferguson gave out several awards at the winter sports banquet. Mike Daily received M.V.P., Takedown Award, "Hammer" Award, and was given Wrestler of the Match. Varsity Bulldog Award winner Chris Nobbe also received the Hustler of the Week Award. Brian Enneking was given Most Improved and Micah Hewitt was awarded the reserve Bulldog Award.

Cheer Towards Victory

In the beginning B.H.S. had cheerleaders. Throughout the years school spirit and cheerleaders dwindled to an all time low. So a small group of students and teachers, headed by Mr. Bob Nobbe, Mrs. Lisa Barnett, Mrs. Mary Oxley, and Miss Pam Heger, decided to do something about it. They got together and talked about the idea of joining the flag corps, drill team, and cheerleaders. In addition, they added a rifle and stunt corp.

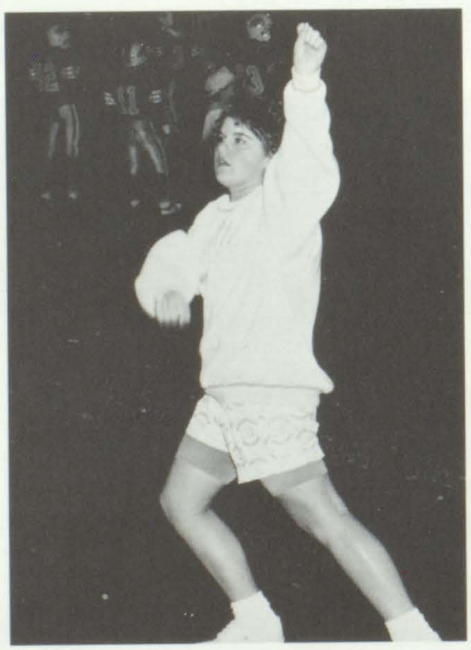

"It sounded like fun"

The freshmen were the only class this year with cheerleaders. Their enthusiasm at the freshman events was greatly appreciated. This year's freshmen have enjoyed going to camp and helping decorated the lockers. The squad all agrees that they will try out next year, feeling that school spirit is important.

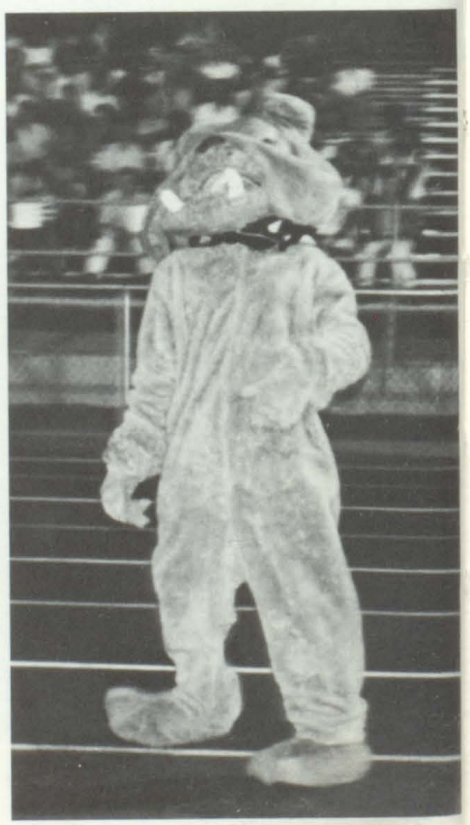

The squad sponsors then had the challenge of trying to find people who would be willing to dedicate themselves to boost school spirit. Several showed immediate interest. Kim Meyer, a senior on the squad, knew she wanted to be part of this revolutionary squad. "After one of the meetings I went to, when they described all the activities they wanted to do, it sounded like fun."

Once everyone was assembled, cheerleaders from The University of Cincinnati came to BHS and showed the spirit squad and freshman cheerleaders new cheers along with some stunts. Then Chris Nobbe, Kelli Tuggle, and the freshman squad went to U.C. to learn more and bring their knowledge to the rest. In the end, this helped to make the spirit squad what it was in 1991-92.

Ending With Spite

Although the baseball team started out on a bad track, it ended with great playing by all the boys. Coach John Seright stated that their main goal was to win sectional and advance to regional. In the beginning of the season it wasn't looking good, but the Dogs proved their abilities by capturing the sectional title. This was the first time in ten years that Batesville won the sectional. In addition to this achievement, they won the first game of regional and made a good showing during the final game playing the 4th ranked team, even though this brought an end to their season.

Overall the season went well with a final record of 11-12. The conference record was a winning one, 5-4. The leading pitcher was David Wahman with a 2.16 E.R.A and six wins. Troy Riehle was also a top notch pitcher with six saves. Riehle also dominated the offensive statistics with a .381 batting average and two homeruns. This gave him the hitting trophy. In addition to this award, he was also named M.V.P. for the '92 season. Senior Jason Bastin took home the Bulldog Award.

Number one singles player Jill Cochran uses an overhand slam to lay the ball in her opponent's court. Being only a freshman, Cochran defeated many tough opponents, leaving her in a good position for the next few years.

Looking Ahead

This year's team, despite the leadership of senior Meg Ekins, was entirely made up of freshmen and sophomore players. Freshman Jill Cochran was voted Most Valuable Player by her fellow teammates. Mr. Schuck stated that Jill defeated many good and older players and still has three years to get even better.

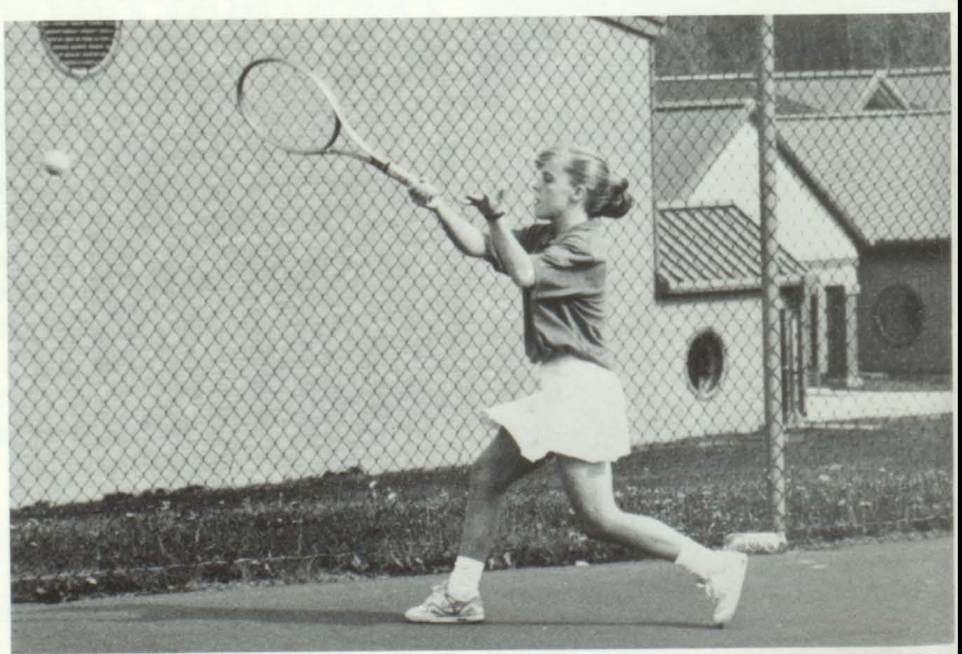

In order to receive the Bulldog award, one must display good sportsmanship and always have a winning attitude. Sophomore Beth Hunter projected these qualities while being a member of the team. At the annual Awards Banquet she was awarded this honor.

Mr. Schuck is anticipating the next few years to be prosperous, because of the potential within the team. If each member plays to her potential, there is no telling what the future holds for this group of girls.

Let's Play Ball

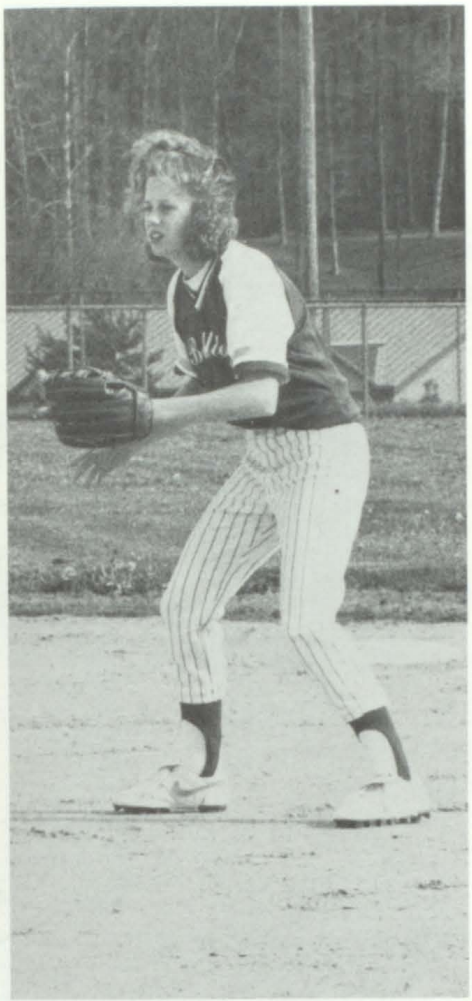

Despite a losing season, the members of the Batesville softball team held their spirits high and concentrated on teamwork. Freshman Amy Linkel was quoted as saying, "I think we work pretty well because we all get along and tell each other what we need to work on." Amy also commented that being a part of the team has allowed her to meet new people from other schools. Another member of the team, four year participant Jan Laker, said, "Everyone works well together and has lots of fun." Since being part of the team, Jan has gained additional leadership, teamwork, and sportsmanship skills.

Considering the fact that the team was comprised mostly of underclassmen, there were no feelings of hostility between the members. "Most of us are the same age, so we are able to get along," said Amy.

As the season wound down, Jan Laker recalled her most memorable event of her four years as going to regionals her freshman year. If the next team continues to show such strong team cooperation, maybe BHS will have another team on their way to regionals. Best of luck!

Coach Melvin Siefert's BHS golfers enjoyed one of the most outstanding seasons to date with an overall record of 13-1. The team's only loss came against Shelbyville, who finished eighth in the state tournament.

The team's M.V.P., sophomore Nathan Walsman, exemplified outstanding skills and leadership. His main goal was to advance to regional play as a team, but if that did not happen, Walsman commented," I then hoped to advance beyond sectional competition." He finished in the top ten at regional. Coach Siefert felt that both Walsman and the Bulldog Award winner Gary Weisenbach were true leaders for the team.

The entire team will return for the upcoming season, with the exception of graduate Ted Tekulve, who became a pleasant surprise. Coach Siefert projected this team to be the best group he has ever had a chance to work with and looks forward to next season.

The Fast Fourteen

Batesville High School's girls track team, consisting of fourteen girls, started practice on March 2, 1992. Even though the squad was minute in number and weak in overall speed, the team was strong in enthusiasm, willingness to work, and constant improvement, which are important assets to succeed. Throughout the season, the girls were constantly improving. Miss Walsh, the assistant coach, commented,"I would definitely say that the girls have improved throughout the season. You can see the improvement by looking at individual times and distances." The girls also possessed the capability of working well together as a whole and it showed during the meets. If a girl wasn't giving a pep talk to a fellow teammate, she could be found cheering on someone's running effort.

During the course of the season, Angie Menser recovered faster than expected from knee surgery from her basketball career. Besides Angie's knee, the squad was fortunate enough to end the season with no injuries except the usual sore muscles. When Coach Raver was asked how the season was going, he commented, "Pretty well considering we don't have the number to fill all events. We have a good chance of winning the county meet and we hope to move up a notch or two in the conference." Coach Walsh was pleased with the girl's record. She stated," I am pleased. I believe that in most instances we've done the best that we could. The record might not look good on paper, but with only fourteen girls on the team, competing against the larger schools is difficult. The girls have had some great meets which they should be proud of. I think one of their best meets was the county where they placed second by only eight points to South Ripley."

The Batesville High School girls track team ended the season with a 16-27 record. Everyone participated in the sectionals; seven then advanced to the regionals. All fourteen girls received a varsity letter. The Bulldog Award went to Gina Raver with senior Brenda Fitch receiving M.V.P.

The Batesville High School track team had a great season ending with a 29-13 record. The Dogs finished 3rd in the conference, 2nd at the East Central Invitational, 3rd in the county, and 2nd in the sectional.

Two new school records were set one by David Bedel and Matt Doll. Bedel achieved his record in the pole vault, when he vaulted thirteen feet. Doll broke the 110 meter hurdle record with a time of 15:14. All in all, the boys did very well. Other outstanding performances were seen by Andy Scheele in the 1600 meter and 800 meter runs.

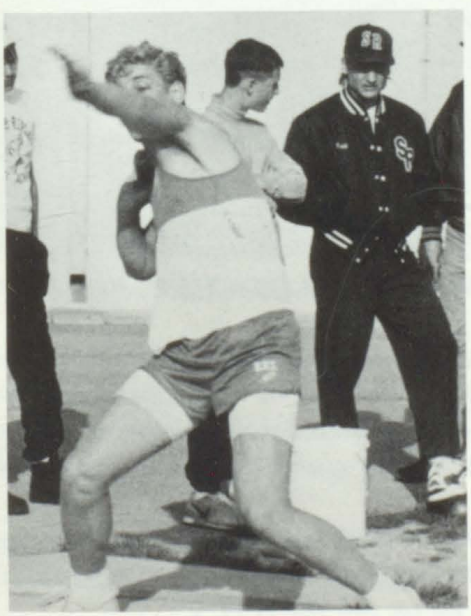

Coach Raver was very pleased with the team and commented, "I am very pleased with the boys so far, and I hope to see a lot of competition at regionals." At the regional level, David Bedel tied for 4th in the pole vault; Andy Scheele earned a 5th place finish in the 1600 meter run; and Matt Doll took 5th in the 110 meter hurdles.

Helping ONE another

For those people who are still in school, time is an element that must be divided between work, school, and leisure. There are only so many hours in a day, but getting involved in school clubs is well worth a student's time. Getting to know fellow classmates, working to reach a goal, and helping one another are the three highlights of clubs. There are over twenty clubs that are active at B.H.S. From International Club to Chess Club, people of all types can feel comfortable somewhere. With a broad range of sports and academically related clubs, those who join various organizations unite to form a team.

Being part of a team can fill a missing piece in anyone's life. It is important to feel needed and respected. Joining a club in the high school years is the perfect opportunity to gain recognition as a team member or active participant.

It is a positive experience to be involved in schoolwide clubs. Not only can the experience build up self-esteem in the person, it also boosts school spirit. Considering how many hours a student must devote to school, it is worthwhile to join clubs that bring the high school good recognition.

Being able to help one another reach a common goal is an important skill which is needed throughout a lifetime. Clubs teach members how to work together to be on top for B.H.S.

A Good Lead

Even before the school year began, Batesville High School's Student Council was planning for the 1991-92 school year that was ahead. Hard at work preparing for the events of the year were the four officers: David Fischmer-President; David Bedel-Vice President; Brenda Fitch-Secretary; and Wendy Kirschner-Treasurer. The organization was under the direction of two new advisors, Mr. Schuck and Ms. Walsh. With this dynamic combination, Student Council headed into a busy but successful year.

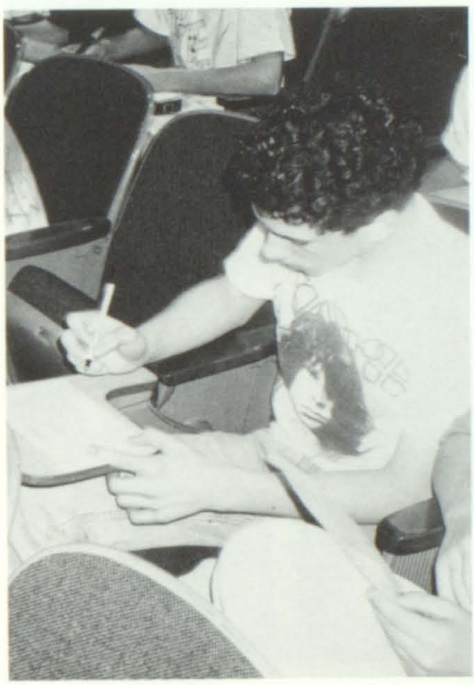

First on the agenda was the annual Hill-Rom Family Fun Day, held in late September. With only twenty-nine members, sixteen less than in previous years, the event required hard work and commitment from each member to make the day a success.

A second item of importance to all BHS students was Homecoming. This included organizing Spirit Week, the Homecoming Parade, and the Homecoming Court. As well as these activities, Student Council organized a Christmas dinner and convocation for the student body, a semi-formal dance, and a school-wide blood draw with Hoxworth Blood Center. BIG MAC, a program designed to reward students for their positive contributions throughout the year, was continued also.

Student Council ended their itinerary with two special days. The first, known as Teacher Appreciation Day, was for honoring all BHS faculty and staff with a cookout, prepared and served by the organizational members. The second, a day for students to relax and enjoy themselves before the dreaded final exams, was Activity Day. It included all kinds of events from volleyball to pie throwing to the annual Slave Auction, where Student Council members were sold to "masters." The day was set aside for "slaves" to obey their masters' orders, under specific guidelines, of course. Finally, the last item on the agenda was organizing elections for next year's officers and members. This was to insure that next year would run as smoothly as this year did.

The BHS Informants

Each year, two groups of hard working students put together a newspaper and a yearbook to help keep our school informed about the everyday events and accomplishments that we, the students, made.

First of all, we have the Annual Staff, a staff of nineteen students that put their efforts into a whole year of hard work and dedication. They met everyday throughout the week and worked on the 152 page yearbook. When asked what the the hardest part of her job was, editor Kim Linkel commented, "Keeping the people motivated to work was a true task." These students work out every individual layout, going through a very difficult process, putting together each page.

On the other hand, we have a shorter version of a yearbook called "The Bulldog Bark". This group of high-spirited writers, overseen by Mr. Hayes, catches the highlights on many events throughout the school year. The "Bulldog Bark" goes out once a month giving us the information we need to keep up on all the activities that go on here at BHS. They go through a lot of hard work just as the annual staffers do. Putting together a newspaper includes not only putting together pictures and layouts, but also in-depth interviewing and finding reliable resources.

A big thanks to both the annual staffers and the newspaper writers for keeping BHS informed and involved in all activities throughout the past year.

Sing into a Bright Future

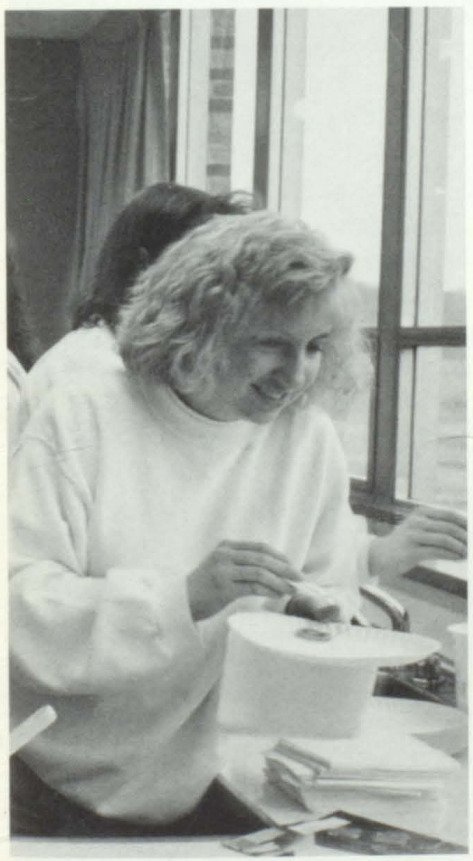

The Batesville High School Choir members started their year out with the study of music for their Christmas concert. The concert was then followed by the set-up of a play concerning "Peer Pressure." Each student played a part and put his/hers ideas into it. The concert and play were big successes and they are looking forward to next year. They will be performing a real Broadway musical.

The Future Homemakers of America kicked off their year with the bake sale that was held at Batesville High School. The bake sale was followed by the Holiday Bazaar. They also had a Parent Banquet in May. The money then went towards the banquet. A Quest for the Best

The Batesville High School Band, under the direction of Mrs. Mary Oxley, helped school pride and spirit by providing music for several school activities. The band, made up of forty-six members, appeared at various community functions and school parades. The band was seen marching in the Pumpkin Show, Christmas, and Memorial Day parades. They also marched in the Homecoming Parade, along with playing at all of the home football games. They also played for both girls and boys basketball games. On Valentine's Day, the band, along with the Senior Spirit Squad dancers, performed a floor show at halftime of the boys' varsity game.

The band performed in various contests, one being the high school instrumental solo and ensemble contest, in which many members took part. Also, Batesville hosted sixteen schools in April for the high school organizational contest. The Ripley County Music Festival was an all-day event in which the band rehearsed and played with the South Ripley, Milan, and Jac-Cen-Del bands. Then toward the end of the school year the band performed in the annual Spring Concert. Their final performance was at the high school graduation ceremony. The band had a very successful year and were appreciated by everyone, because of their hard work and dedication.

Lending a Helping Hand

Each year seniors have the opportunity to take time out and volunteer one period to help the faculty. These students are known as Teacher, Office, Guidance, and Media Assistants. They perform various tasks during the period such as typing, filing, collating, answering phones, and running errands. After they have finished their daily chores, these students take the remaining time to work on their studies. Sometimes they even find time to relax. Not every day do the students get free time. Some days they are working hard and quickly to get everything done in fifty-two minutes.

When asked what kind of jobs he performs in the Media Center, Clay Nuhring responded," I sign Media Center cards, straighten books, put them away, and do some filing. It is easy, but I have learned how to find what I'm looking for and have gained a working knowledge of the Media Center as a whole." Darla McCreary, a guidance assistant was asked the same question, and she replied," My daily routine is to run errands, alphabetize report cards, seal envelopes, and help out in any way which I can."

Helping In More Ways Than One

This year at BHS there was a new club called the Spirit Committee. This club was set up to help start the task of bringing spirit back to the school. One way this was attempted was in the creation of the Buddy System. This was where the seniors were matched up with an incoming freshman. The idea was for the seniors to be there for the freshmen, if they needed help.

The Spirit Committee was started in 1990. Not only did this group start the Buddy System, but it also was formed to help "Promote attendance to functions within the school," according to Mrs. Grimsley.

Seniors were busy this year helping everyone. Another way seniors helped was through Exploratory Teaching. This was a small group of people who were interested in teaching. For these people, they had the opportunity to experience firsthand the work involved in this field, by spending one period a day at Batesville Primary School. This gave them firsthand experience in teaching.

Our Town; Our Principal

The high school Drama Club continued its fine tradition of outstanding productions with their fall performance of Thornton Wilder's OUR TOWN. The club began preparing for their performance with a trip to Cincinnati to view the play at the Playhouse in the Park. The show's cast then worked diligently until opening night, Friday, November 22. The play's success was due to its fine cast! Leading roles were portrayed by David Bedel, Jeff Pulskamp, Erin Carpenter, Heidi Decker, Jessica Placke, Gary Weisenbach and Bryan Collins; however, the numerous other actors and actresses involved also combined to help bring OUR TOWN to life.

To conclude the school year, the Drama Club presented "This is Your Life, Mr. Lemen." This show was dedicated to Batesville High School's retiring principal, Richard Lemen, and was different than any other production performed by the club. It was totally original! Mrs. Barnett and her players actually wrote and designed this unique play. The show was emceed by seniors Heidi Decker and David Bedel and contained the fine work of all those involved with the club. Following the production was a short reception, coordinated by Kelli Tuggle, honoring Mr. Lemen.

Each year, numerous students spend countless hours preparing for the Drama productions, proving once again that "there are no small parts — just small actors!" Look for big things to come in the next few years.

Looking at the World

The International Club, which is geared toward letting students have the opportunity to experience different cultures through different restaurants and festivals, is sponsored by Mr. Koors and Mrs. Seright. The International Club went to restaurants, such as the Olive Garden, Garcia's, and the Samurai Japanese Restaurant. The club also went to two international festivals, one in Cincinnati and the other in Indianapolis. Along with these cultural trips, the club also went on a skiing trip in January at Perfect North Slope in Lawrenceburg and had plans of going to Kings Island in June.

To help raise funds for these trips, the club had many fundraisers, such as the candy and coat check at the basketball games, a fudge sale, and a Valentine's Day candy sale.

The International Club was one of the biggest clubs at BHS this year, but had only a few senior members. Mr. Koors commented," Membership is high; participation in fundraisers is fantastic; however, relatively few have been involved in the fun activities. The officers were president Paul Nobbe, German vice-president Casey Dixon, Spanish vice-president Ken Bedel, secretary Kurt Yearout, and the treasurer was Brad Coffin. The International Club was here for the foreign-exchange students too. This year BHS was very fortunate to have three exchange students, all of whom were from Mexico. When asked about the foreign-exchange students, Mrs. Seright commented," These were the three best kids Batesville has ever had. This is the most successful of the exchange programs we have ever had."

FFA Honors Abound

FFA, under the supervision of Mr. Cutter, was actively involved in many events throughout the year. Several members competed in entomology and soil judging contests. The BHS soil and water management team took National Regional honors as well as the state championship.

Officers for the 91-92 school year were Pres.- Jeff Bedel; V.P.- Zack Ferkinoff; Sec.- Tom Honnert; Treas.- Jon Hermesch; Reporter- Randy Schrank; and Sentinel- Scott Laker. Senior Dave Gehring was named District XII FFA President and was also on the state FFA executive committee.

Fundraisers, such as apple sales and raffles, are vital to enable members to attend educational trips, which included the National Farm Machinery Show, the Indiana State Fair, and the National FFA Convention in Kansas City.

Batesville FFA took leisure time to stay active outside of school. The group managed a booth at the Kiwanis Merchant's Show, attended the Farm-City Banquet, and visited King's Island along with several other social events.

Mr. Cutter had a bright outlook on the year in FFA by saying, "Our Soil Judging Team consisting of D. Gehring, S. Laker, P. Nobbe, and J. Bedel advanced to national competition in Oklahoma City, OK. This is the first time for Batesville since 1957. I believe we had a very super successful year."

Concentrating on Others

Being comprised of only two members, this year's Chess Club could have been the smallest ever in the history of Batesville High School. The participants generally played during activities period. A clear advantage of a small club is always knowing who your partner will be.

The Key Club is a service organization designed to coordinate projects to help the community. In the fall, the club held a canned food drive to benefit the local food pantry. With the donations of Batesville citizens, a truckload of food was collected and donated to the food pantry.

At the Consumer Show the club sold cookies as a fund raiser. Not only did they sell them, but the entire club worked together to make them. The majority of the money earned by this fund raiser was sent to Riley Hospital for Children in Indianapolis.

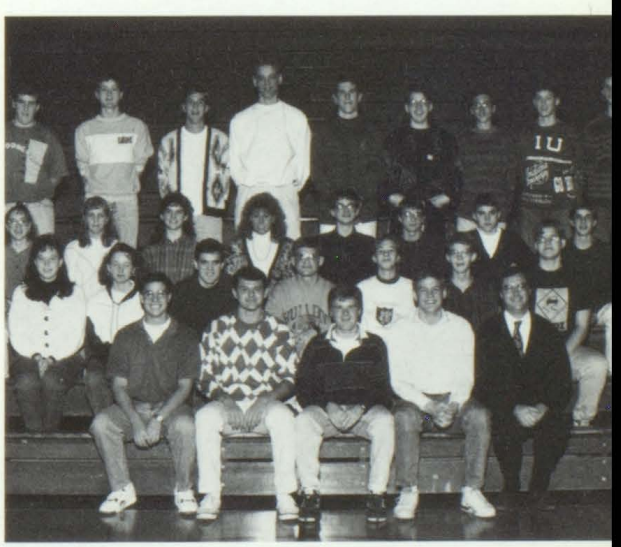

Senior David Fischmer said the best part of being in the club was meeting new people and working with others in the community and here at school. He was a four year member of the group holding various offices. To finalize this year the club held initiation of the officers for '92-'93 on May 17.

Work that Caboose

Junior Achievement is a money-making organization that helps give students an idea of how a real company is operated. The group was sponsored by Hillenbrand Industries, Bill Blank, Sarah Lamping, and Mike Thalheimer and was made up of two companies, Young Integrators and Young Business Leaders. This year JA sold advertisements for a calendar, which they produced. They also made stress relievers by putting sand in balloons.

Club officers for Young Integrators were Pres., Todd Brelage; V.P. of Production, Mike Henretty; V.P. of Personal Relations. Officers for Young Business Leaders were V.P. of Production, Mike Neth; V.P. of Financing, Jeff Baker; Secretary, Dena Coulis.

This is the second year for the Model Railroad Club, which was founded by Mr. Stanbrough. This club is for students who are interested in model railroading. This year Model Railroad Club built a 16' X 12' modular layout. They attended some meets and activities in Cincinnati, where there were some large and active modeling groups.

Emphasis on Academics

Along with sports being emphasized at Batesville High School, academics is a major part of the curriculum. The Academic Team consisted of twenty-two members. Co-coach Mr. Koors commented, "This year's Academic Team has doubled in size over last year's. The increased membership has not only contributed to our success, but has also made competitions easier and more fun for all of us! And with mostly underclassmen, the future holds nothing but promise!" There were three seniors, eight juniors, one sophomore, and ten freshmen. The team had helpful practices during bi-monthly activity periods, and the members also practiced on their own by using diskettes for their meets. The team participated in many meets, including five E.I.A.C. competitions. There was a preliminary practice for state, in which the team participated, a statewide regional meet, and a state meet.

The team was in the top of the conference throughout the year and it was ranked number one in the fine arts department at one time. Co-coach Hayes commented, "The team is doing very well this year. I anticipate at least one of the teams going to state." The National Honor Society, headed by Mr. Jerry Brelage, is a national organization sponsored by the Association of Secondary School Principals. Its purpose is to recognize and stimulate scholarships. To become a member of the National Honor Society at Batesville High School, a student must meet some critical requirements. Students must show outstanding leadership skills in school, as well as some community service, and they must maintain a 95% grade point average. The requirements for belonging to the National Honor Society have become more challenging with these expectations. They have to be either juniors or seniors; sophomores are probationary. Students must be favorably recommended by the majority of the members of the high school faculty committee.

Gathering for Training

Students from thirteen schools ranging from Greensburg to Madison and North Vernon to Lawrenceburg, Indiana, attend the Southeastern Career Center, located in Versailles.

The wide variety of courses offered at the Career Center gives students the opportunity to acquire skills that best prepare them for employment or advanced training. From auto body repair to cosmetology, hands-on-training provides excellent learning experiences.

In addition to important job skills, good interpersonal relations and good attendance are also stressed. At the Career Center, a professional businesslike environment is emphasized. All these elements, combined with state-of-the-art equipment, help to qualify students for a career.

To assist in achieving marketable job skills, a work-release program, or Co-Op, is provided for second-year students. When the second semester begins, prospective employees armed with dozens of resumes and cover letters make contact with businesses all around the area in pursuit of the perfect individual.

"A lot of other people think the Career Center is a big joke, but while they are going to college to get a career, I'll already be making a living in my career," stated Jason Weisenbach, a drafting and design student.

Be Part of the Action

Future Business Leaders of America is a student-oriented group that prepares young adults for a career in the business world.

One week in February is designated as FBLA Week. During this time the students participate in Career Day. This gives the members an opportunity to spend the day with a local business person of their choice.

Mrs. Raver, who has been the advisor for four years, states that "professionalism is when one should take pride in himself/herself and in what he/she does."

This is the fourth year for BHS's Sadd, an acronym standing for "Students Against Drunk Driving." The third week in October always kicks off the first project for SADD. This is the Red Ribbon Campaign. Members try to promote and support a drug free community. As the holidays drew near SADD held an annual Candlelight Walk. This walk represented those who have died because of alcohol-related accidents. All organizations, athletic teams, and coaches were invited to participate.

Faculty and staff members were encouraged throughout the year to promote SADD by wearing their drug-free T-shirts and buttons. Mrs. Voegele, the organization's sponsor, commented, "Hopefully we can persuade each student, faculty member, and adult to think before they drink."

Working Toward The Future

VICA (Vocational Industrial Clubs of America) is a cooperative-education program designed to grant high school students an opportunity to experience life in the working world. This program gives the students the skills and understanding of their chosen vocation.

The organization conducted a majority of their meetings on activity day under the leadership of Tonia Schebler, club president. Heidi Decker stood in as vice president; Rachel Blaum was secretary, and Steve Back served as club treasurer. Other officers included Brian Laker, co-treasurer; Ryan Feller, reporter; Mark Struewing, parliamentarian; and Jami Laker as historian.

VICA has been collecting aluminum cans since the beginning of the year as a fund raiser for special events. One particular event was the annual Employee Employer Banquet at the end of the year. This money was also used to send participants to district state competitions.

The new advisor for the 1991-1992 school year was Mr. Wuestefeld, who stated, "VICA is training students today to be the working force of tomorrow."

ONE to today & two to go

Many special events occur within an individual's high school career, most of which are exciting to everyone. Some of the most memorable occasions include Prom, Scholastic Awards, and Graduation.

Preparing for Prom is both exciting and mind-boggling. Finding the perfect dress, getting fitted for a tuxedo, matching shoes and flowers, and gaining courage to ask that "special someone" for a night on the town, all add to the chaotic evening.

Putting one's heart and mind into school day's off by being honored in the annual Scholastic Awards Program. A memorable event for all, those who earn the four-year award receive the distinction and personal satisfaction of holding the night in high regard and are specially recognized with a slide presentation and a plaque, commemorating their academic achievements.

Graduation is a time to rejoice and a time to reminisce. It's a time to look back and remember all of the childhood memories that dwell in the past. A feeling of achievement and pride build up inside, a feeling of relief knowing that one was given the opportunity to discover one's inner self in preparation for the future.

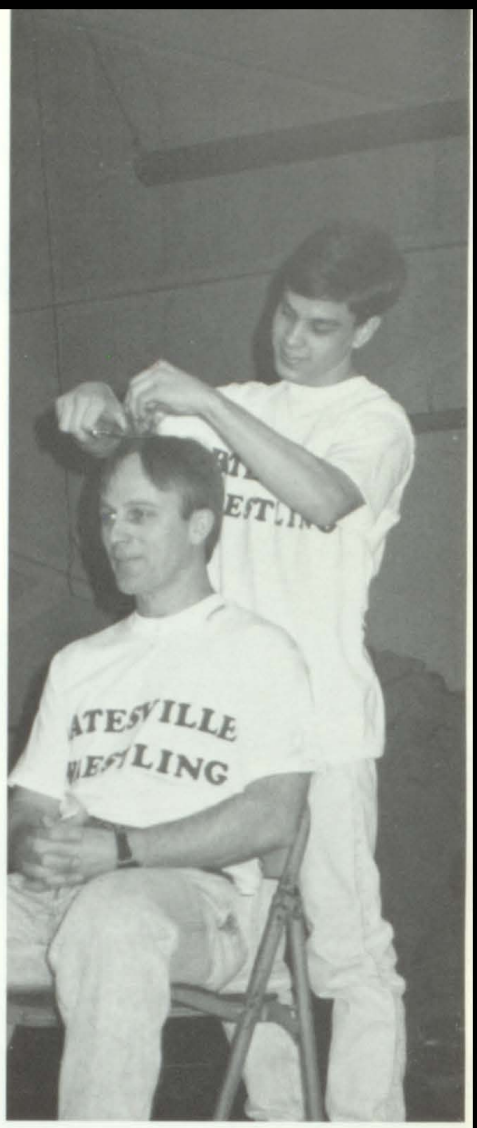

These events hold special and different memories in everyone's heart. Looking back at them and remembering the little things can mean so much to a person. They will be long lasting for years to come.

"Daily" Improvements

Many students, faculty members, and local fans traveled to Market Square Arena on February 22, 1992, to watch Mike "Spike" Daily capture the first state title ever for Batesville High School. Mike has been an excellent wrestler for Batesville throughout his career and has accomplished what most high school athletes only dream of.

The State Tourney began on Friday night at 7:00 P.M. Mike wrestled the number three grappler in the state; he took the match with an 11-7 victory to advance him to the quarter-finals on Saturday. Spike won his Saturday morning match 11-6 to advance one step further. In the semi-finals Daily wrestled a third time veteran of the state tourney, but was able to come out on top once again. This was how junior Mike Daily made it to the finals that evening.

Not only did Mike receive this treasured honor, he also broke many school records and received many other awards. Mike will be remembered at Batesville for two accomplishments, one being the 1992 119lb. state wrestling champion. Second and foremost, he brought home the first ever state championship to our school.

-Kim Linkel

Mike works hard, spending several hours a day in the wrestling room preparing for the season. For junior Mike Daily, these workouts paid off.

Awarded for Achievements

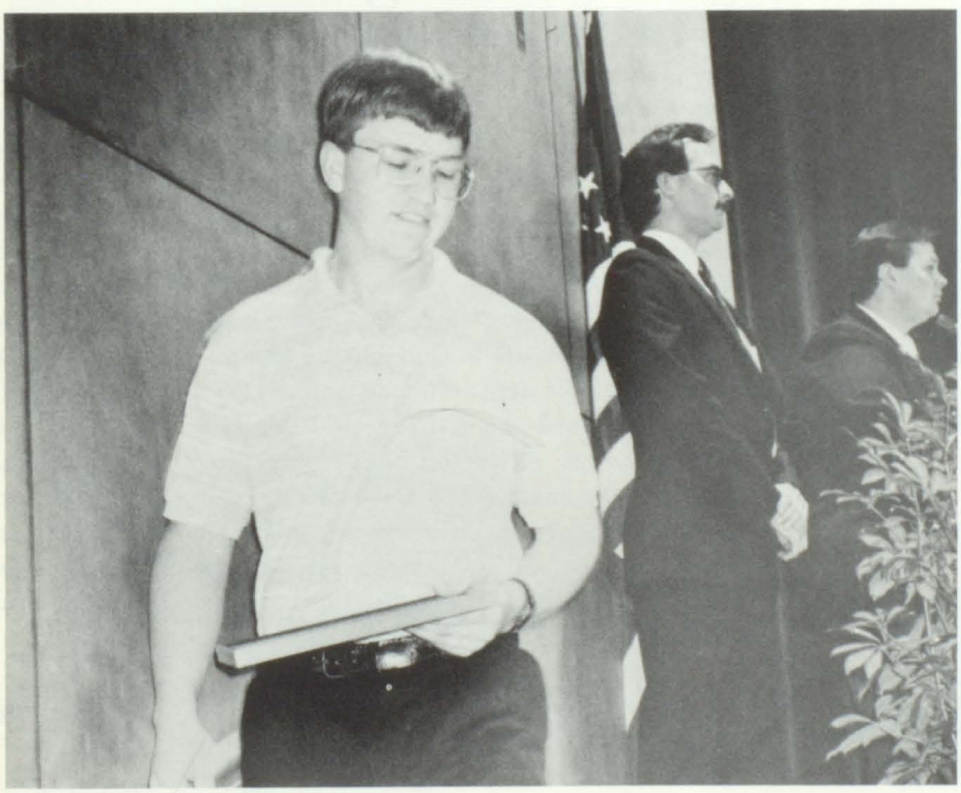

The 33rd Annual Scholastic Awards program was held April 29th to honor students for outstanding scholastic achievement. Students in grade nine through twelve were honored for making the semester honor roll and the 4th and 5th six weeks grading period honor rolls. This program was sponsored by the Batesville Jaycees. It is the highest academic honor at the Batesville High School.

There was a reception prior to the ceremony for the parents and students. Afterwards, they began the ceremony in the auditorium, which was headed by Mr. Hoagy Wright, the Master of Ceremonies. The Jaycee's member in charge was Mr. Jim Merkel.

The first, second and third year recipients received a certificate with the appropriate number of seals. The fourth year students were acknowledged with a plaque as well as a special slide show.

"This shows your work was worthwhile and appreciated," commented senior Eric Doll who received a plaque. Eric is going to the University of Dayton to study mechanical and environmentel engineering.

It was a Wonderful Night

Mr. Ferguson's junior class sponsored and decorated the Junior-Senior Prom held on May 16, 1992. The class started planning the prom in early September. During the year, they decided on the location, theme, colors, music, and decorations. They decided to traditionally hold it in the high school gym but use the entire gym. As May 16 approached, the juniors selected the theme, "Wonderful Tonight," by Eric Clapton. The colors hunter green and ivory were chosen as the colors to use for decorating along with the white rose. They also chose to be different by offering mugs, instead of long stem glasses, and adding a prince to the royal court. A-Z was voted upon to play the music and Debbie Peetz was hired to help with the decorating.

Besides the juniors getting ready for prom, S.A.D.D. was busy preparing for it also. As in previous years, SADD decorated the halls with posters promoting not to drink and drive. Starting the week off, the members had the signs posted throughout the halls, and "Resusy Annie" posed as a victim from a drinking and driving accident. On Tuesday, S.A.D.D. put up a dressed-up skeleton; Wednesday, they handed out Dum-Dum suckers. On Thursday, announcements were made throughout the day on the P.A., and on Friday, orange drinks were handed out in the morning, and the Grim Reaper "killed" students every twenty minutes(representing the number of deaths per day from drinking and driving). To top the day off, they held a convocation in the afternoon.

After nine months of preparing, May 16th came around. Students were permitted to arrive anywhere between 7:30pm-9:00pm, to get their pictures taken by Krider Studio. A-Z started at 8:00pm and ended at 12:00am. At 10:00pm, eyes were turned to the front of the dance floor for the announcing of the royal court. After 11:30pm, the party favors were handed out. Around 1:00am, any junior or senior could go to after prom set up by Mr. Dick Lemen at the Gibson Theater to watch "Wayne's World." To help the prom goers have fun, the Dairy Queen stayed open all night and offered a 10% discount.

The 1992 Junior-Senior prom was a big success. The Class of 1993 would like to thank Mr. Ferguson, Mr. Vicars, Mr. Lemen, the Dairy Queen, the Gibson Theater, and the numerous students for all their hard work and dedication to make this year's prom memorable.

Dancing to the beat of one of the latest slow songs, Casey Dixon and Andy Coomes enjoy their last high school prom.

Ngoc Van Nguyen and his date look onward as they slow dance and make it a wonderful evening.

Members of B.H.S.'s SADD displayed Resusie Annie as a victim of a drunk driving accident, to help promote not to drink and drive.

Wonderful Tonight

"Wonderful Tonight" was what was on everyone's mind in anticipation as the crowning of the royal court came to an explosive end. As 10:00PM approached the anxious candidates made one last check to insure everything was perfect.

In contention for the crown of princess were Sandy Shook, Wendy Wonning, and Jenna Meyer. The hopeful candidates for prince were Gary Weisenbach, Jeff Schwegman, and Eric Starost. In running for queen were Brenda Fitch, Carmen Prickel, and Meg Ekins. King candidates were Adam Westerfeld, Ken Maple, and David Bedel.

When the time arrived to crown the court, Wendy Kirschner took the honor of giving the court their awaited prizes. The outcome of the night were Prince Gary Weisenbach, Princess Wendy Wonning, Queen Meg Ekins, and King Adam Westerfeld.

-T. Britch, K. Linkel

The winners of the court at this year's prom are all smiles as they show their newly found fame: King Adam Westerfeld, Queen Meg Ekins, Princess Wendy Wonning, and Prince Gary Weisenbach.

Barbara Bourquein and Paul Nobbe dance this special night away.

Ryan Moody shows exactly how to move. The music was provided by A to Z disc jockey, and everyone seemed to enjoy the music.

Brent Fullenkamp shows off his great guitar playing abilities. He is so good he can play two at one time.

As Jeff Bedel places his votes for the court, his date, Andrea Boles, looks to see what is ahead.

Mr. Zimmerman, Robin Volz, and Joe Volk discuss the evening. Overall they felt it was a huge success.

Tonia Schebler takes a break from dancing as she sits down to rest her feet.

Valedictorian David Bedel addresses his fellow classmates. He stresses that anyone can be a success if he/she works hard enough for it.

Steve Back and Brian Amrhein bow their heads during the invocation which was being given by Meg Ekins.

Standing Together One Last Time

June 7, 1992, was the day the Senior class stood together as a whole for the very last time. The graduation ceremonies began at 2:00pm and was held in the gymnasium due to bad weather. The graduates were scheduled to arrive at approximately 1:15 pm to prepare for the long awaited event. Upon arrival, they helped each other put on their caps and gowns, picked up a white rose, the class flower, and anxiously waited until they needed to line up. Around 1:45 pm the graduates lined up and at 2:00pm they proceeded into the gymnasium where commencement took place.

Derek Kiser, senior class president, started the ceremony with a presentation of a plaque to Mr. Richard Lemen making him an honorary member of the Class of 1992. This was not only a day for the students, but Mr. Lemen also, for he too was leaving with the class. As the ceremony continued, Meg Ekins gave the invocation followed by speeches from Brenda Fitch and Carol Struewing. Commencement addresses were given by Heidi Decker, Kim Linkel and Casey Dixon. Krissy Mayes closed the ceremony with a short speech. The Class of 1992 honored their valedictorian, David Bedel, and salutatorian, David Wahman. Recognition was given to the Class of 1942 as they were introduced. A special musical selection was performed by several seniors entitled, "We Must Say Goodbye." The motto for the class was "It's The Right Year Now," and to many that is exactly what it was.

Each graduating class has some unique quality that makes people remember them. This class not only stood out academically, but also as individuals. The Class of 1992 had the highest ever percentage of students who chose to continue their education and the most students who received special honors.

Beyond academics, this class had character. "This class had a personality of its own. They were a great bunch of kids, who made good choices," explained counselor Jerry Brelage.

As graduation came and went, students realized what this day really meant. Today was a day like no other. We proved to ourselves the strength that each and every one of us possessed. We were finally being recognized for the hard work and dedication of the last twelve years of our lives. As we were standing together one last time knowing we would each go our separate ways as this day ended, we all shared one common bond that nobody could take from us — we were the Class of 1992.

-K. Linkel, S. Flodder

A senior ensemble expresses their feelings of leaving friends and family by singing "WE Must Say Goodbye."

Marilyn Sitterding pins Bill Hahn's white rose on him. Each graduate displayed the class flower.

Jeff Baker receives his diploma and a congratulations from Dr. Freeland.

Thanking all those who have helped him achieve everything he has, Salutatorian David Wahman presents his speech.

Eric Doll and his father present Mr. Lemen with a plaque, commemorating all his service to the students at Batesville.

Mark Struewing is proud to say he is a graduating senior by displaying it on his head for all to see.

Heidi Decker and Darla McCreary congratulate one another a short time after the ceremony ended.

"Destiny is not a matter of chance, it is a matter of choice; it is not a thing to be waited for, it is a thing to be achieved." -William Jennings Bryan

"We are tomorrow's past." -Mary Webb

"My interest is in the future because I am going to be spending the rest of my life there." -Charles F. Kettering

"Success is a journey, not a destination." -Ben Sweetland

"Tomorrow is the most important thing in life. Comes into us at midnight very clean. It's perfect when it arrives and it puts itself in our hands. It hopes we've learned something from yesterday." -John Wayne

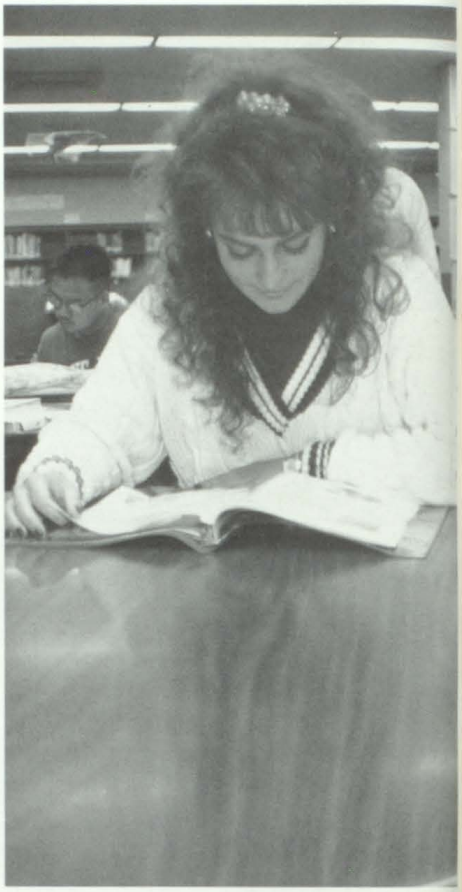

The graduating class of 1992 waits patiently to receive their long awaited diplomas.

Ryan Feller, Clay Nuhring, Brian Volk, and Eric Steinkamp show their feelings of how it feels to be finished with high school.

Senior Carmen Prickel spends a few quiet moments in the Media Center browsing through a magazine.

ONE way to help

Advertisements are important to the yearbook. Ads help reduce the cost of the yearbook so the student can make a purchase at a reasonable price. This year the staff reached their goal by selling one hundred and forty-six business contributions, and fourteen parent patrons. Carmen Prickel and Darla McCreary tied for selling the most ads. They each received a yearbook for half price for this accomplishment.

The closing spread is very special to the school, because it is the last time Mr. Richard Lemen will appear in the yearbook as principal of Batesville High School. It is very special to the staff to be able to put a side bar in his honor to show how much he is appreciated by the people of B.H.S. These last two pages also include memories that will not be forgotten by anyone. Whether it be local or national news, every happening will reflect the next move in each person's life.

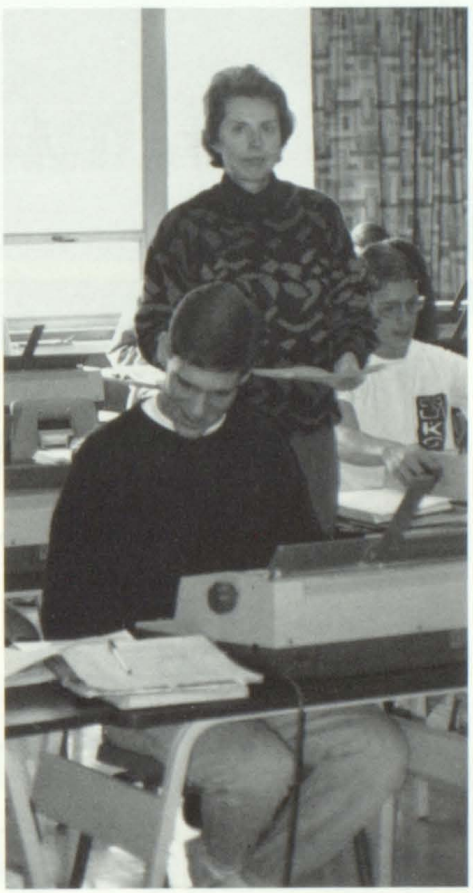

The yearbook staff put their full effort into making the yearbook an enjoyable memory for everyone. Hopefully the memories of this past year will always be captured by looking at this historical record.

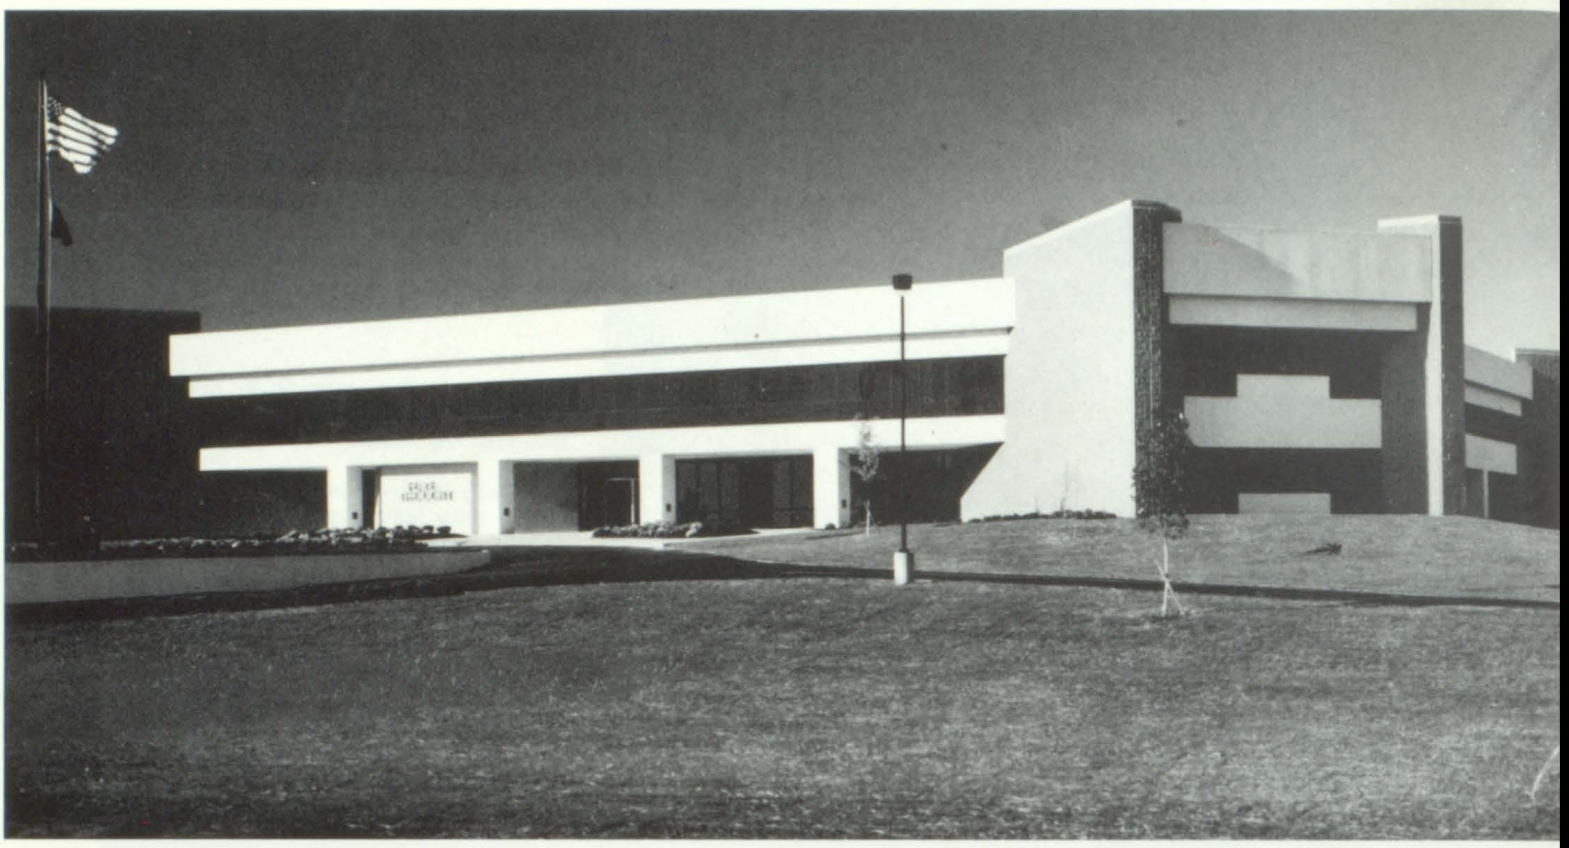

-K. Linkel, D. McCreary

During graduation ceremonies Mr. Lemen fondly recalls several memories as principal at Batesville High School.

Mrs. Sally Raver observes one of her typing classes, while Jeff Pulskamp continues to work on his assignment.

Jeremy Bastin, Hans Robben, Kenton Heinlein, and Emily Fasbinder look over notes one last time before taking another exam.

P.J. Blum and Curtis Broughton give one another a high five, shortly after realizing they were finished with their high school careers.

This One is Final

At the closing of each school year, students tend to reflect on the past nine months. This year proves no different. Several events occurred which will remain in the minds of the students for years to come.

One week in January, Batesville was in the media spotlight for two reasons. First, Matt Gutzwiller, a senior, was attacked at knife point while working at Cross County Shell. The assailant posed as a customer and subsequently attacked Matt from behind. After a struggle between the two, the attacker fled by car and was later apprehended by police. Not only did Matt make headlines in Batesville for his bravery, but all three television stations from Cincinnati interviewed him as well.

A second incident, in which a building on the corner of Walnut and Boehringer streets exploded, also caught the networks' interest. On January 17, a gas leak caused an office building to explode without prior warning. The only hint of a problem was a gaseous odor inside the building. Immediate attempts were made to evacuate the building and to insure the safety of passersby. Moments later the building was in shambles and the townspeople were amazed. Firemen and police officers combed the rubble for hours searching for any victims who may have become trapped in the explosion. Fortunately, no one was injured in the blast.

When a person's rights are being violated, we are taught to stand up for ourselves and defend our rights. That is exactly what the students of BHS did following the implemantation of new school rules. The students felt these new rules were too strict and decided to take a stand by boycotting lunch. Although the boycott lasted only two days, the rules were lightened and school was "back to normal."

Another incident in which individual rights were violated occurred in Los Angeles. Rodney King, an African-American was savagely beaten by four Caucasion police officers on March 3, 1991. After a year of court deliberation, a jury found the officers not guilty on all charges but one. This decision caused an unexpected uproar between whites and blacks. Looting, arson, and rioting plagued the city for days. The hatred that flowed throughout the city caused at least fifty deaths and numerous injuries to the black, white, and Korean residents of south central L.A. Thankfully, the riots lasted only a few days and the people realized what was important to get the city back on track, working together as one. All people need to ban together to get a job done regardless of age, sex, or race. We must unite to make this world a better place for the future.

As we left on May 29 many had different views to what each would do next, but we all must prepare for our entrance into the "REAL WORLD." We must proceed with an open and liberal mind. Judging people for who they are inside is what will make this a better world in which to live. In the years ahead, let us remember these events and their outstanding effect on the people. Hopefully, we can make sound decisions so these events never occur again.

Dena Coulis, DeAnn Salatin, and Jason Beetz work together to gather information needed for an upcoming exam.

Eric Starost and Marlene Horstman finalize the last edition of the BULLDOG BARK. The final edition of the year was dedicated to the Class of '92.

Mr. Richard Lemen has spent a total of thirty-six years in education, working not only with the administration and faculty, but also with today's students and students from years past. But then the time came when Mr. Lemen decided it was 1992 for the year of his retirement. When I gathered information on his retirement, I talked to a few of his close co-workers, along with interviewing Mr. Lemen himself.

Current Director of Curriculum, Mr. Fred Sagester, who received the principalship for 1992-1993, said," It is an honor to follow such an esteemed administrator." Going back to 1969, Mr. Lemen gave Mr. Sagester his first teaching job here at Batesville High School. It is easy to see that Mr. Lemen undoubtedly devoted much time to helping the school and its students' academic endeavors. It is evident that Mr. Sagester, along with the Batesville community, will be forever indebted to Mr. Lemen for his undying energy and time put forth for the young people of today and yesterday.

Mrs. Roberta Brandes has also spent a lot of time working with Mr. Lemen. She has spent twenty-eight years working in the office assisting Mr. Lemen. Mrs. Brandes had also been around Mr. Lemen in the school atmosphere while he had been teaching. She commented," Mr. Lemen was very understanding and dependable and he went all out for the faculty and the students." We all need to realize how well Mr. Lemen has done and the great accomplishments he has made for the school. Changing throughout the years with the students must have been very difficult but Mr. Lemen adjusted and modified his ways to accomodate the students.

Lastly, when I spoke to Mr. Lemen he had some thoughts of his own. He expressed more than enough about the students throughout the years and told about his joys of watching the students grow and mature. One last departing comment left by Mr. Richard Lemen was, "I will always treasure my time at Batesville High School and the yearbook will remain a link between myself and the memories that linger in my mind."

The 1991-1992 yearbook staff put much time, work, and dedication to make this the best yearbook ever. Front Row: Darla McCreary, Pat Boyd Wendy Wonning, Jami Caffee, Carmen Prickel Row 2: Carrie McPherson, Char Goins, Jason Bastin, Kim Linkel, Brenda Fitch, Jen Metcalf, Sara Flodder Row 3: Mrs. Grimsley, Mark Masavage, Tammy Britch, David Fischmer, Adam Westerfeld. Also on the staff were Tracy Blanken, Bra Coffin, and Krissy Vobland.

This Is It — The Best!

I, Kim Linkel, the editor-in-chief of this yearbook, would like to take this time to thank all the people who have helped make this yearbook the best it could be. First and foremost, I would like to thank Mrs. Grimsley for all her time and effort. I couldn't have done it without her. I thank the staff for helping to complete this book from beginning to end and each giving his or her all to make this book the best ever. To Mr. Koors and the Herald Tribune, thanks for donating various pictures that we put to good use. Also, to Mr. Hochstetler, thanks for taking a few shots for us throughout the year. For making copies, mailing packages, and keeping track of the money situation, I thank Mrs. Brandes. A big thanks to Krider Studio for taking pictures at many events, developing pictures, and, of course, all the film we used. A thank you also goes to Derek Kiser for drawing the artwork for the graduation layout. It looks great. Last, but definitely not least, I would like to thank Lance Baker for everything, from the division artwork to the "yearbook" tips. Again thanks to everyone aforementioned and anyone I may have left out. I appreciated everything. I wish Wendy Wonning, 1992-1993 editor, the best of luck with her publication. Also, I would like to wish Mr. Lemen best wishes on his retirement and I hope he never forgets his last year with us. I hope everyone who looks through and reads this yearbook enjoys it. Finally, to the seniors, I wish the best of luck in everything and I hope this will always be a remembrance of your final year at Batesville High School.
